$1 billion in funding planned for student mental health services

The U.S. Department of Education intends to distribute $1 billion in funding for mental health services to school districts, universities and state education agencies over the next five years, Education Week reports. The Bipartisan Safer Communities Act, signed into law last June, created two grant programs aimed at addressing the current epidemic of mental health issues among children and teens and the lack of mental health professionals in schools.

Panelists announced for 2023 State Legislative Conference

The annual State Legislative Conference, taking place this year on March 21 at the Sheraton on Capitol Square in Columbus, is an important opportunity for school board members to meet with legislators and make their districts' voices heard in the Statehouse. Discussion panelists will include Sen. Andrew O. Brenner (R-Delaware), chair of the Senate Education Committee; Rep. Adam Bird (R-New Richmond), chair of the House Primary and Secondary Education Committee; Sen. Catherine D. Ingram (D-Cincinnati), a ranking member of the Senate Education Committee; and Rep. Phillip M. Robinson Jr. (D-Solon), a ranking member of the House Primary and Secondary Education Committee. You can view the full agenda and register at www.ohioschoolboards.org/events/view/state-legislative-conference-21. The cost is $155.

Preventing the 'spring slump' in student attendance

The Ohio Department of Education and Attendance Works have posted a number of resources that districts can use to encourage consistent school attendance. The period between spring break and the end of the year is historically associated with a drop in attendance nicknamed the "spring dip" or "spring slump." Using positive messaging, communication with families and activities that incentivize showing up for class, schools can beat the slump and help kids finish the year strong. Ohio district honored for summer meal program

Cincinnati Public was recognized by the United States Department of Agriculture in its 2022 Turnip the Beet awards for outstanding summer meal programs. Award recipients go above and beyond federal requirements to deliver meals that have a positive impact on the health of the community. The district was among three programs in Ohio to receive honors, claiming the silver award for a program that serves “age-appropriate foods, use[s] menus featuring a variety of quality vegetables, fruits and whole grains and locally sourced foods, and engage[s] in food- and nutrition-related activities.” For more information about the awards and resources on providing high-quality meals in a summer meal program context, visit www.fns.usda.gov/sfsp/turnip-the-beet.

Tecumseh bus driver praised for quick actions

Tecumseh Local (Clark) bus driver April Wise was honored for her fast actions in keeping a student from getting hit by a car.

“For what she did that day, we definitely appreciate it,” the boy’s father told a local TV station.

In video from the bus, Wise is seen checking mirrors and paying close attention to what was happening around her as she stopped the bus to let the seventh-grader exit.

“He is one of my quickest students to get on and off the bus,” Wise said. “He is super quick.”

But in the video, Wise is quicker, grabbing the student by his backpack before he gets down the steps, saving him from getting hit by a car that comes into frame moments later.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

by Jennifer Hogue, director of legislative services

General Assembly considers differing voucher proposals

Three very different proposals for voucher expansion are pending in the General Assembly. Each proposal has varying degrees of both expansion and expense. What follows is a look at each of those pending proposals and the steps public school advocates can take.

House Bill 33- EdChoice income expansion

The first proposal to be unveiled is included in Gov. DeWine’s budget proposal, which is drafted into House Bill (HB) 33, the biennial budget, sponsored by Rep. Jay Edwards (R-Nelsonville).

This proposal would increase the income-based EdChoice eligibility threshold from 250% of the federal poverty level ($69,375 for a family of four) to 400% of the federal poverty level ($111,000 for a family of four).

The Legislative Service Commission (LSC) synopsis of the Ohio Department of Education budget shows that the budget earmarks $660.8 million to pay for all of Ohio’s voucher program in FY 24 and $722.5 million in FY25. These amounts assume an increase of $65.8 million more in FY 24 as compared to FY23 and $61.6 million more being spent in FY25 over FY24. Again, these dollar figures fund all of Ohio’s voucher programs (Jon Peterson Special Needs Scholarship, Autism Scholarship, EdChoice performance-based voucher and EdChoice income based voucher). No figures have been provided for how much is directly related to the increase in the income threshold proposed in the bill.

House Bill 33 is currently pending in the House Finance Committee.

House Bill 11- Backpack Bill

HB 11 is a priority bill for the House Republican Caucus. This legislation would create the “Backpack Scholarship Program” and would provide educational savings accounts (ESAs) for students in grades K-12 who attend a participating private school or are homeschooled. The program would begin in the 24-25 school year.

The ESA program would be administered by the Treasurer of State. $5,500 would be deposited for grades K-8 and $7,500 for grades 9-12. These amounts will increase in future years by the same percentage as the average base cost per pupil. If a student graduates with funds remaining in their ESA, a parent may request that the state treasurer transfer half of the remaining amount to a sibling’s account or to a qualified 529 education savings account.

The dollars deposited into ESAs under the program can be used for:

- tuition and fees at a participating private school;
- tuition and fees for a private online learning program;
- tutoring or intervention services by an individual or educational facility, provided those services are not provided by an immediate family member;
- fees for nationally standardized assessments, Advanced Placement exams and any exam related to college or university admission, as well as tuition or fees for preparatory courses for those exams;
- tuition and fees for programs of study or course curriculum that lead to an industry-recognized credential that satisfies a workforce need;
- educational services, including occupational behavioral, physical, speech-language or audiology therapies;
- curriculum, textbooks, instructional materials and supplies; and
- fees for after-school summer education programs.

The Legislative Budget Office (LBO) fiscal analysis is not yet available. However, preliminary estimates, assuming all current private and homeschool students apply and receive an ESA, are $1 billion.

HB 11 is pending in the House Primary and Secondary Education Committee.

Senate Bill 11- Universal vouchers

SB 11 is a priority bill for the Senate Republican Caucus. This bill, entitled the “Parent Education Freedom Act,” would begin in the 23-24 school year. SB 11 would extend eligibility for an EdChoice voucher to all Ohio students in grades K-12. Additionally, the bill would end the Cleveland Scholarship Program (CSP) due to the fact that students currently eligible for CSP would now be eligible for an EdChoice voucher. The amounts of the voucher would remain $5,500 for students in grades K-8 and $7,500 for students in grades 9-12.

The LBO fiscal analysis for SB 11 estimates the cost to be $528 million in each year. This estimate assumes that all 90,500 private school students without a voucher will apply for one under the bill.

The bill would also increase the existing income tax credit for homeschooling from $250 to $2000. This nonrefundable credit allows homeschooling taxpayers to claim a credit for expenses including books, supplies and computer software. LBO estimates that the increase in the homeschooling tax credit under the bill will result in a personal income tax loss between $40 million and $47 million in FY24 and a loss of between $38 million and $44 million in FY25.

SB 11 is pending in the Senate Education Committee.

While these proposals vary in cost, each one has the same result of expanding the use of public, taxpayer dollars for use in a private setting. OSBA maintains our position that Ohio’s public school funding formula (the Fair School Funding Plan) should be updated and fully funded before additional dollars are invested in private systems. 1.5 million students have chosen public education. These students deserve to have their education and opportunities fully funded.

OSBA also believes that schools accepting vouchers should be held to the same standards and accountability requirements as public schools. Additionally, schools accepting voucher students should be held to the same performance and financial reporting requirements as public schools.

Supporters of the voucher expansion proposals have come to the Statehouse to share stories about why they have elected to use a voucher to attend a private school. It is especially important that you, your students and your communities show up and speak up about why you choose public education.

Wonderful things are happening in public education settings all across the state. Highlight the amazing programs and opportunities available to students in public schools. Celebrate the success of public school students and share what possibilities lie ahead with a fully funded public school formula.

OSBA is now accepting nominations for the 2023 Business Honor Roll program

This program was created to provide school districts the opportunity to recognize and say “thanks” to these local businesses for their support and contributions. If your district has businesses that support your schools, OSBA encourages you to name them to the 2023 Business Honor Roll.

Forest Hills students learn entrepreneurial skills through shop

Inside the Rapstore at Forest Hills Local's (Hamilton) Anderson High School, students are doing more than selling clothing and apparel to support the school. They're learning how to run a business in a hands-on experience while earning some awards along the way.

"It's one thing to just learn about it in class from assignments," Rapstore CEO Ella Smalley told a local TV station. "But then it's another thing to learn what people like in our school and what they don't like and picking and designing logos and being strategic about when we're selling. So, we're basically learning how to be entrepreneurs."

Every aspect of the business is controlled by the students, who participate in the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA).

Recently, Anderson High School received gold-level certification for the second year in a row. The certification allows students to enter competitions not only at the local and state levels but also nationwide.

"We are so fortunate here at Anderson High School to have the best kids," Principal Kyle Fender said. "They work incredibly hard, they're so intelligent. They put their best foot forward on projects like this."

The store is open during lunch; online ordering also is available.
