

BRIEF CASE

THE OHIO SCHOOL BOARDS ASSOCIATION

Serving the public school leadership team

Cleveland board member chosen as 2021 OSBA president-elect nominee

The OSBA Nominating Committee has selected Robert M. Heard Sr., a longtime Cleveland Municipal school board member, as the association's 2021 president-elect nominee. If elected by the OSBA Delegate Assembly at the Capital Conference in November, Heard will serve a year as president-elect before becoming president in 2022. The 15-year board member serves on his board's Say Yes to Education Planning, Cleveland Transformation Alliance and Levy Planning committees. At OSBA, Heard is in his 13th year on the Board of Trustees and serves on the Executive Committee, Urban Network, Diversity and Equity Committee and Legislative Platform Committee, among others. The retired claims investigator also is Northeast Region president and represents Ohio in the National School Boards Association Delegate Assembly and Federal Relations Network.

New webpage provides school reopening resources

OSBA is offering new resources to help Ohio districts reopen their schools for the 2020-21 school year. The Restart Education in Ohio Resources webpage — <http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/60536> — features materials to help districts determine their best return-to-school options. Information includes the Ohio Department of Education Reset and Restart Education planning guide; transportation resources; individual school district restart plans; resources for district operations; and more. The section on school restart plans will be updated as plans become available. To share your district's plans, please send the plan or a webpage link to Jeff Chambers at jchambers@ohioschoolboards.org. For additional information related to the pandemic, visit OSBA's COVID-19 page at www.ohioschoolboards.org/coronavirus.

OSBA kicking off 19th annual Media Honor Roll program

OSBA will launch its 2020 Media Honor Roll program next month. The program provides districts the opportunity to recognize their local journalists and news outlets for providing fair and accurate coverage of their schools. It is designed to help districts build and maintain positive, productive relationships with the news media to help ensure fair and balanced reporting along with continuing community support. Details will be emailed to superintendents and communications directors and posted at <http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/35524> in early August.

ODE provides updates on blended learning, remote learning plans

With the passage of House Bill 164, schools now have the option to consider remote learning plans as they prepare for the 2020-2021 school year. The Ohio Department of Education (ODE) has released new information about blended learning and remote

Newbury Local merges with West Geauga district

The Newbury Local (Gauga) Board of Education conducted its last meeting on June 29 ahead of the district's July 1 merger with West Geauga Local (Gauga). The Newbury school board, which had seen the district's enrollment dwindle to about 365 students, voted on the merger last year. After spending more than a year conducting feasibility studies, surveys and work sessions; gathering data; and exploring options, the board determined it was no longer feasible for the district to continue operations.

Lakewood City custodian wins national contest

Kris Kantor, the head custodian at Lakewood City Schools' Hayes Elementary School, was recently recognized for his devotion to students and staff in a national contest.

Kantor was selected from among 2,000 nominees for the inaugural Custodians Are Key contest sponsored by cleaning solutions manufacturer Tennant Co. During a surprise event at his school, Kantor received a $5,000 prize while his school received $10,000.

Kantor was presented the award during a June ceremony in front of socially distanced staff members. He told a local newspaper that receiving the recognition was "very gratifying ... it makes me feel like I'm really making a difference. This motivates me even more."

Reasonable Suspicion and Clearinghouse Training

Tuesday, Aug. 4 • 10 a.m.–2 p.m. • Livestreaming • Cost: $100

OSBA is offering a reasonable suspicion drug and alcohol training program for supervisors. Completion of this course is required for all supervisors of safety sensitive CDL (commercial driver's license) drivers, including school bus drivers. Best practice is that each district have at least two administrators trained in this requirement.

The course meets the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA) U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) requirements. Attendees will receive a certificate of completion.

Effective Jan. 6, 2020, the FMCSA Drug and Alcohol Clearinghouse changed the way school districts with drug and alcohol testing programs find out about a CDL driver's DOT testing history. This session is designed to educate administrators who manage the FMCSA DOT drug and alcohol testing on clearinghouse requirements.

This workshop covers the following topics:

- Clearinghouse basics
- Registering as an employer
- Purchasing queries
- Obtaining driver consent for limited or full queries
- Identifying when a driver needs a clearinghouse account to provide consent for a query
- How to submit a query
- Driver consent verification notification from FMCSA
- What types of violations will be reported to the clearinghouse

Attendance, Tuition and Custody Law Virtual Workshop

Two-day event: Thursday, Aug. 6 and Friday, Aug. 7

12:30 p.m.–4 p.m. • Livestreaming • Cost: $150

OSBA's Attendance, Tuition and Custody Law Workshop is designed for EMIS coordinators, attendance officers and others responsible for enforcing attendance and tuition matters in a district.

Thursday, Aug. 6

12:30 p.m. Welcome and overview

12:40 p.m. Highly mobile students

There have always been students who are considered highly mobile, including those who are homeless and in foster care; children of migrant workers; and students living with someone other than their parents. This session will help schools prepare to deal with enrollment and attendance questions for these students.

Hollie F. Reedy, attorney, Ennis Britton Co. LPA

1:55 p.m. Break — Take care of business or participate in our virtual trivia game to refocus

2:15 p.m. Attendance and COVID-19

As districts reflect on the building closures that ended the last school year and the uncertainty of the new year, there are a number of vexing attendance and coding questions. This session will discuss the Ohio Department of Education's latest guidance on these topics and answer your questions.

Melissa Hennon, data administration manager; Brittany Miracle, program administrator; Marianne E. Mottley, report card project director, Ohio Department of Education

3:45 p.m. Farewell until tomorrow

Friday, Aug. 7

12:30 p.m. Welcome and overview

12:40 p.m. Decoding divorce decrees and court orders

District employees frequently are presented with divorce decrees, court orders and other custody documents when students are enrolled. In this expanded session, learn how to review and understand court documents and determine when you need to ask more questions or seek legal guidance.

Lisa H. Woloszynek, attorney, Walter Haverfield LLP

2:10 p.m. Break — Take care of business or participate in our virtual trivia game to refocus

2:30 p.m. Hypothetical enrollment and tuition scenarios

Ohio Revised Code (RC) 3313.64 provides: "A child shall be admitted to the schools of the school district in which the child's parent resides." Simple. But is it? Who is a student's "parent"? What if there isn't a parent in the picture? What about the multiple exceptions in RC 3313.64? In another expanded session, panelists will consider a number of enrollment scenarios and answer your questions.

Jacqueline Walsh Brickman, attorney, Pepple & Waggoner Ltd.; Betsy Franklin, EMIS coordinator, Conneaut Area City School District; and Janie Gildersleeve, truant officer/home school coordinator, Ashtabula County ESC

LEGAL WEBINAR SERIES

Walk-outs, Protests and Other Acts of Civil Disobedience

Tuesday, Aug. 4 • noon–1 p.m. • Cost: $50

Students and staff across the country are engaging in increasingly frequent acts of civil disobedience and protest. They have walked out in support of teacher strikes, opted out of standardized tests, knelt during athletic events and marched in solidarity with national movements. Reactions from district officials are as varied as the causes themselves. Join our panelists for a robust discussion as they examine the tensions that can accompany acts of civil disobedience and what districts can do to minimize their legal risks while respecting constitutional guidelines.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

by Will Schwartz, deputy director of legislative services

State authorizes disbursement of federal COVID-19 funding

The Ohio Controlling Board on July 13 authorized $100 million in federal funding for K-12 public and private schools to address expenses incurred to fight and prevent the spread of the coronavirus. The funding comes from the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act, which Congress passed earlier this year and President Donald Trump signed into law in March.

The funding comes from the $150 billion Coronavirus Relief Fund (CRF) of the CARES Act, which was used to make payments to states, certain local governments and other entities. This funding is separate from and in addition to two other sources of education funding from the CARES Act: the Elementary and Secondary School Education Relief (ESSER) Fund and the Governor's Emergency Education Relief (GEER) Fund.

Ohio's total allocation under the CRF was $4.53 billion, the seventh-largest amount awarded to states. Some of Ohio's largest county and city governments were specifically earmarked to receive $778.5 million of this amount, leaving the state with $3.75 billion to distribute on its own.

The Controlling Board is a seven-member bipartisan panel composed of six legislators and the director of the Ohio Office of Budget and Management, or his or her designee, who serves as the panel's president. The entity performs such budgetary functions as releasing appropriated funds that, by law, require Controlling Board approval before expenditure; authorizing certain purchases to be made by state agencies without competitive selection; authorizing expenditures from revenues not anticipated in the current appropriations act; and transferring funds and appropriations.

The Controlling Board's recent action marked the first of what likely will be several efforts to distribute the federal CRF funding to local governments, including school districts. It also follows a separate legislative effort in which lawmakers in June passed House Bill 481, a bill that appropriates $350 million in CRF funding to counties, municipalities and townships to fund pandemic-related expenses.

The CARES Act requires CRF payments only be used to cover expenses that meet all of the following conditions:

- expenses that are necessary expenditures incurred due to the COVID-19 public health emergency;
- expenses that were not accounted for in the applicable entity's budget most recently approved as of March 27, 2020;
- expenses that were incurred between March 1, 2020, and Dec. 30, 2020.

In other words, payments from the CRF can only be used to cover previously unbudgeted costs of necessary expenditures incurred due to COVID-19 between March 1 and Dec. 30 of this year.

Recipients of the Controlling Board's $100 million allocation consist of traditional public schools, joint vocational school districts, community schools, independent STEM schools, nonpublic schools and county boards of developmental disabilities. To determine funding amounts, the CRF uses the student counts from the 2018-19 state report card for school districts, community schools, STEM schools and joint vocational school districts. Payment reports from the 2018-19 school year are used for county boards of developmental disabilities, and 2019-20 data from the state's nonpublic data system is used for nonpublic schools.

Each entity receives a base per-pupil amount, which represents 54.5% the total amount. Additional weighted funds, representing 24.7% of the total amount, are provided based on the number of low-income students, students with disabilities and English learners, much like the state's foundation funding formula. Finally, traditional districts and certain community schools receive additional funding to support their transportation obligations. For school districts, this is to provide services for nonpublic school and community school students. Transportation funding represents 20.8% of the total amount.

The following are total funding amounts and each entity's share of the total CRF amount:

- traditional school districts: $87.97 million, or 88%;
- joint vocational school districts: $1.9 million, or 1.9%;

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WORK!

compiled by Scott Gerfen, assistant editor

Cincinnati Public Schools distributing laptops, iPads to students

Ahead of the new school year, Cincinnati Public Schools will ensure every student in the district has a laptop or iPad.

With a blended curriculum planned for next year, the district's director of information and technology management, Jeff Chrystal, told a local TV station that the devices will be vital for students.

"This project involves distributing about 30,000 devices to students in grades two-12,"

Chrystal said. "The students in grades two and three will be issued iPads; the other students will be issued laptops."

Each device comes preloaded with Microsoft Office, which students will use to complete their coursework. Lavonnia Humphries, the mother of a 16-year-old student, said the laptop is great for independent learning and will help with the family's budget.

"It definitely saves us a lot of work, and it also gives us an advantage to still be able to keep food on our table, bills paid," she said. "And as long as we're getting help, that's all that matters."

The district also is piloting an internet access program with Cincinnati Bell called Connect Our Students, a community-funded initiative, according to Chrystal.

"Based on how much we're able to raise, we certainly hope that we're able to expand beyond the pilot of five schools," he said.

Legislative Report, continued from page 6

- community schools: $4.09 million, or 4.1%;
- STEM schools: $113,547, or 0.1%;
- nonpublic schools: $5.5 million, or 5.5%;
- county boards of developmental disabilities: $402,169, or 0.4%;

The following are average funding amounts per pupil by entity and average total funding per entity:

- traditional school districts: $57 per pupil: $144,488;
- joint vocational school districts: $45 per pupil: $39,262;
- community schools: $41 per pupil: $13,579;
- STEM schools: $35 per pupil: $16,221;

- nonpublic schools: $33 per pupil: $7,645;
- county boards of developmental disabilities: $221 per pupil; $9,089.

The Controlling Board's next meeting is July 27. With this meeting and several more scheduled throughout the summer, along with a considerable amount of leftover funding in Ohio's share of the CRF, it is likely that Ohio's K-12 schools will see more resources to help offset pandemic-related costs for the upcoming school year.
