sally.green: If a school district mandates school masks on school buses and parents says no is a school still required to transport the child?

sally.green: Can this blended learning be fluid or you have to outline all the possibilities?

Our BOE have decided to return to school, 5 days a week. Parent(s) have indicated that they will not send their child to school.

Jan Busdeker: Is the BOE obligated to give these students a remote learning?

sally.green: Are you able to maintain 6 foot social distancing in classes?

Hi, Sally Green: Regarding face masks, it's possible that the student meets an exception to the face mask requirements. The best guidance at this time would be to consult with your local board of health since the facts will be relevant in terms of how the district should handle the situation.

Jennifer Hardin:

it is just parents who do not believe masks are needed no health issues.

sally.green:

Regarding your blended learning question, Sally: As Sara just mentioned, remote learning is more flexible. You may want to consult with ODE about which plan meets your district's needs better.

Jennifer Hardin:

Has the OHSAA provided any guidance regarding fans at Fall sporting events? thanks

Larry:

Hi, Jan Busdeker: The best guidance at this point is to consult with ODE about the district's responsibilities to parents who are reluctant to send their children back to in-person learning. Also consider consulting with your local department of health. We hear that ODE will be pushing out more guidance documents about attendance soon.

Jennifer Hardin:

Van Keating: Nothing too specific yet.

Hi Sally: Regarding six-foot distancing—the district will need to consider how to maintain distancing. The guide includes suggestions about alternative approaches. Again, your local department of health is a good resource for specific questions.

sports?

FYI: Celebrate ADA30 (1990-2020) and ADA Anniversary (July 26, 2020) Throughout the year and on the ADA Anniversary, the ADA National Network recognizes this landmark event and the important work to promote equal opportunity for people with disabilities.
