More than 9,000 take part in 60th annual Capital Conference

Another successful OSBA Capital Conference and Trade Show is in the books. The 60th annual conference, held Nov. 8-11, drew more than 9,000 public education leaders to the Greater Columbus Convention Center. The conference held onto its ranking as the second-largest public education convention in the nation, while the Trade Show — with 559 exhibitor booths — maintained its status as the largest in the U.S. Mark your calendars for next year. Planning already is underway for the 2016 Capital Conference, which will run Nov. 13-16.

Five board members earn association’s highest honor

OSBA recognized the 2015 All-Ohio School Board on Nov. 11 during the Capital Conference. The recognition, presented to one board member from each of OSBA’s five regions, is the association’s most prestigious honor. This year’s honorees and their districts and regions are: Mary Tedrow, Groveport Madison Local (Franklin), central; Sue Williams, Southeast Local (Wayne) and Wayne County Schools Career Center, northeast; Bob Vasquez, Toledo City, northwest; Sandra Poe, Green Local (Scioto), southeast; and Kevin A. Johnston, Preble County ESC, southwest.

Northeast Ohio board member picked as 2016 OSBA president-elect

The OSBA Delegate Assembly elected Denise Baba, Streetsboro City, 2016 OSBA president-elect during its annual business meeting on Nov. 9 at the Capital Conference. Baba will become OSBA president in 2017, following her term as president-elect. Current President-elect Eric K. Germann, Lincolnview Local (Van Wert) and Vantage Career Center, will assume the presidency on Jan. 1, 2016.

Veteran educator, administrator is 2015 President’s Award winner

OSBA President Ed Penrod, Logan-Hocking Local (Hocking) and Tri-County Career Center, presented the 2015 President’s Award to Dr. T. Richard Murray on Nov. 9 during the Capital Conference. Murray has had an exemplary career in public education as a teacher, principal and superintendent. He was superintendent in two local districts before taking the helm at Muskingum Valley ESC, where he retired in 2012. He also has been active in multiple statewide education groups and currently is executive director of the Coalition of Rural and Appalachian Schools.

OSBA offering resources to mark School Board Recognition Month

OSBA has created a Web-based resource kit to help districts celebrate School Board Recognition Month in January. The kit, posted at www.ohioschoolboards.org/school-board-recognition-month, provides ideas and tools to honor board members and let communities know of their hard work and dedication. OSBA will send personalized certificates to each district in December to present to board members during their celebrations next month. Districts are urged to send articles and photos of their activities to be featured in the Journal magazine and on OSBA’s website. Materials can be submitted online at http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/84691, emailed to cdavis@ohioschoolboards.org or mailed to Crystal Davis at 8050 N. High St., Suite 100, Columbus, OH 43235.

State Board set to pick interim superintendent this week
The State Board of Education is expected to select an interim state superintendent of public instruction during its Dec. 14-15 monthly meeting. The interim leader will serve until the board hires a replacement for Dr. Richard A. Ross, who is retiring Dec. 31. Ross has served as state superintendent since March 2013.

Bell, 1965 OSBA president, dies at 103
Vance Bell, who served as OSBA president in 1965, died Nov. 27 at the age of 103. Bell served as a board member at Avon Lake City.

When students at Chillicothe City’s Chillicothe High School walked into foreign language classes for the first time, there was a certain level of shock.
They asked, “Where are the desks?”
The new approach to teaching languages at the high school is designed to create an environment that increases student interaction and immerses them in the language.
The students are responding.
“It allows us to interact with the entire class and combine all of our ideas,” student Olivia Eblin told a local newspaper.
The Organic World Language approach is focused on community building in the classroom.

Don’t miss the New Board Member Academy

Two dates and four locations to choose from:
- Jan. 9-10 at the Hilton Garden Inn Dayton South, Miamisburg, or the Embassy Suites Cleveland-Rockside, Independence
- Jan. 23-24 at the Embassy Suites, Columbus, or the Hilton Garden Inn, Perrysburg

School board service is more complex and demanding than ever. To carry out their leadership duties effectively, new school board members must move as soon as possible from the role of involved citizen to that of responsible elected official. High-quality board member education, designed specifically for newly elected board members, can help you become a more effective educational leader in your community.

This two-day intensive academy will focus on the world of boardmanship; effective communication; board policy; Ohio public school funding; transportation; employee relations; and the Sunshine Law and executive sessions.

Cost for the workshop is $220 per board member. Four books are included with workshop tuition: Boardmanship, Board-Treasurer Partnership, Board-Superintendent Partnership and Board-Legislature Partnership. Breakfast and lunch also are included.

OSBA Master of Transportation Administration (MTA) Program

Don’t miss the upcoming 2016 sessions of the OSBA MTA program. This series of workshops will help those involved in student transportation better understand and perform day-to-day operations.

These half-day workshops — offered from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. — include a working lunch and time for questions. All classes are scheduled twice; participants may sign up for either session. All workshops will be at the OSBA office, 8050 N. High St., Columbus, 43235. Visit www.ohioschoolboards.org/transportation-training-programs to learn about the MTA certification program. Tuition is $90.

Upcoming 2016 session dates and descriptions

Feb. 3 or 9 — Federal regulations, guidance and agencies
Learn about federal agencies, rules and regulations. Review the federal alphabet soup, including FMCSA, NHTSA, NTSB, TSB and ODI and the impacts that these have on daily transportation operations.

April 6 or 12 — Laws, rules and policy
What is the difference between revised code, administrative code and department policy? Where does local board policy fit in? Are they all mandates or just best practices? Review the process through which ideas become a rule or regulation, and how to influence this process.

May 4 or 10 — Hot topics, safety, trends and statistics
Review hot topics in student transportation, including seat belts in school buses. Learn about National Transportation Safety Board accident studies, Ohio school bus accident statistics and any topics that attendees bring from their local districts.

Register online at www.ohioschoolboards.org/workshops. You also can purchase a subscription plan for all the workshops in this series. For questions about the program or to register, contact Diana Paulins, OSBA senior administrative assistant of policy services, at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or mta@ohioschoolboards.org.

OSBA strategic planning — the road map for decision making

Let OSBA put you on the path to success. OSBA can help your district create a comprehensive, long-term strategic plan to ensure you always know which road to take. OSBA consultants will help you identify critical issues, set comprehensive goals for the district and determine priorities for the future.

Become a better board leader

Attend the Board Officers Training

Two dates and four locations to choose from:

- Saturday, Feb. 6, at the OSBA office in Columbus or Northeast Ohio Medical University in Rootstown
- Saturday, Feb. 20, at the Hilton Garden Inn in Findlay or Hilton Garden Inn Dayton South in Miamisburg

The workshops run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

These workshops, led by experienced OSBA staff, will present the tools you need to improve your boardmanship skills and effectively lead your district. You don’t have to be a board officer to attend; board members looking to increase their leadership skills also can benefit.

School board officers serve critical leadership roles in their districts. The president is the visible leader of the board and responsible for the efficient operation of board business.

Unfortunately, too many board officers attempt to fulfill these roles by going it alone. They believe on-the-job training is all they need to responsibly lead the board, but it is crucial for you to be well-informed and have the skills to carry out your leadership duties effectively. Bring your questions about leadership roles.

Topics to be covered include legal duties and responsibilities; planning a productive board meeting; practical parliamentary procedure; public participation at board meetings; open meetings and executive sessions; successful communications; responding to media requests; building team relationships; consensus building; indicators of an effective board; and effective facilitation.

As of this writing, Congress was on the verge of passing a bipartisan bill to reauthorize the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) of 1965. The reauthorization has been titled the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA).

The U.S. House of Representatives passed ESSA on Dec. 2. The Senate is expected to approve the legislation and send it to the president for his signature by mid-December. The last time ESEA was reauthorized was more than a decade ago as the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB).

Following is a synopsis of ESSA’s provisions.

The transition for the new law will occur over the next several years and cover fiscal years 2017-2020. For the 2016 calendar year, existing state plans will remain in effect through Aug. 1. New state plans under ESSA will take effect beginning with the 2017-18 school year. Existing waivers to states will terminate on or after Aug. 1, 2016.

To receive Title I grants, states will be required to develop and submit plans for increasing achievement among low-income students to the U.S. Department of Education. These plans must be developed in consultation with state policymakers; local education agencies (LEAs); representatives of teachers; principals; school staff; and parents. Once submitted, the plans will undergo peer review by “multidisciplinary teams” appointed by the education department.

As under NCLB, states will develop or demonstrate they currently have “challenging academic standards” for all public school students in mathematics, reading or language arts, and science. However, ESSA will further require states to demonstrate the standards are aligned with entrance requirements to state postsecondary institutions and relevant state career and technical education standards.

To address over-testing concerns, ESSA will permit states to set targets for total time spent on testing. In addition, states and school districts will be permitted to use federal funds to audit their testing systems and eliminate redundant or unnecessary tests.

The biggest accountability change is that adequate yearly progress (AYP) will no longer be used. AYP will be replaced with state-defined long-term goals that are “ambitious” and include

Dressed in their jerseys and equipped with a handful of books, a group of Riverside Local (Lake) Riverside High School football players began to read aloud from “The Three Little Wolves and the Big Bad Pig.”

Through the district’s Literacy Lineman program, the select group of football players has been visiting the six Riverside elementary schools to promote literacy and inspire younger students to read.

“Our high school guys get to be celebrities and our elementary students see these role models sharing a passion for reading,” Richard Schmidt, Riverside’s K-12 literacy and social studies coordinator, told a local newspaper.

The players, who must maintain at least a 3.0 GPA and understand the basics of literacy, spend 25 minutes with each class. They were divided into groups of three to four.

Players engage the elementary students by asking critical thinking questions about the story and allow the younger students to comment and ask questions.

“This is a great experience because we inspire the kids to read more, and they love it when we come in,” sophomore football player Ben Hanks said.

The Literacy Lineman program was created in 2010. It ended for a few years and was re-established in 2014.

measures of interim progress. The goals and interim measures will continue to apply to all students and individual subgroups of students.

The NCLB-defined sanctions and prescribed interventions also will be eliminated under ESSA. Instead, the state will identify schools in need of “comprehensive support and improvement” and require LEAs to develop an improvement plan in collaboration with community stakeholders.

ESSA also includes a preschool development grant program and Title II authorization to prepare, train and recruit high-quality teachers, principals or other school leaders without highly qualified teacher (HQT) requirements and mandated teacher evaluation requirements. In other words, the legislation will eliminate HQT mandates.

As for Title I fund use, ESSA does not include new provisions for Title I portability that could have allowed students the option to transfer to private schools with Title I funds following them. This had been proposed in earlier versions of the bill. Under the current version of the ESSA legislation, the Title I funding formula will not change.

As for local governance, ESSA contains specific legislative language crafted by the National School Boards Association in collaboration with Senate staff. The language pushes back against federal intrusion into school administration, including in the area of the development and expenditure of school budgets.

The new law will specifically address potential federal reach through nonregulatory means and require local stakeholder (school board) input at the federal level prior to issuing such guidance. This will be extremely important in the coming months, since ESSA gives states and local districts more flexibility in key areas such as testing and accountability.
