THE OHIO SCHOOL BOARDS ASSOCIATION

Serving the public school leadership team

OSBA Board Leadership Institute keynote speakers announced

The keynote speakers at the 2015 OSBA Board Leadership Institute will be Dr. James Mahoney and Ohio Sen. Peggy Lehner (R-Kettering). The institute is set for May 1 and 2 at the Hilton Columbus/Polaris. Mahoney, executive director of Battelle for Kids, will headline the Opening General Session. Lehner, chair of the Senate Education Committee, will speak at the Closing Luncheon. The Friday-Saturday institute, designed exclusively for board members, also features 18 breakout sessions and plenty of networking opportunities with colleagues and OSBA staff. For details and to register, visit <http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/34026> or contact Laurie Miller at (614) 540-4000 or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org.

Study finds closing achievement gap would boost U.S. economy

A Washington Center for Equitable Growth study finds that raising academic achievement, especially for those not at the top of the economic ladder, would promote widely shared and faster economic growth. The study quantifies how much greater U.S. economic growth, as measured by gross domestic product, would be, and assesses the reductions in economic inequality that would result from narrowing education gaps. Researchers also reported that the increase in economic growth would more than offset the cost of education reforms that would be needed to narrow achievements gaps. Access the study at <http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/78520>.

REGIONAL ROUNDUP

by Angela Penquite, assistant editor

Spring region conferences pop up in March

It might seem a little early to be talking about spring, but it's not too early to start planning for the OSBA spring region conferences. Regional managers are now accepting reservations for these highly popular events.

The five OSBA regions host conferences in the spring and fall. These meetings bring together board members, administrators and guests for dinner, networking, keynote speakers, legislative updates, recognitions and outstanding student entertainment. The spring conferences feature the presentation of the OSBA Award of Achievement and Master Board Member honors.

School board members can earn five credits toward the OSBA Award of Achievement for attending a regional conference. For more information on the Award of Achievement program, visit <http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/43085> or contact OSBA. In addition, Ohio Revised Code Section 3315.15 authorizes the establishment of a service fund for board members. These funds can be used for expenses incurred for meetings such as this.

OSBA President Ed Penrod, Logan-Hocking Local (Hocking) and Tri-County Career Center, and OSBA Executive Director

Richard Lewis will travel to all of the meetings to greet attendees and provide association updates. Region officers and other OSBA staff members also will deliver updates and presentations.

Registration forms for all of the region events were published in the Jan. 26 issue of the OSBA Briefcase. The same information also is available on the OSBA website. Visit www.ohioschoolboards.org/regions, then choose your region to download a registration form.

Following are brief previews of the 2015 spring region conferences, along with registration information.

Are you taking school safety for granted?

Friday, March 13

OSBA office, Columbus

10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Cost is $90

Hopefully the answer is "no." School safety and security are not only high stakes, but also very detail oriented. Recently, the Ohio legislature enacted new laws on filing emergency management plans, while trends such as ALICE training and arming staff continue to evolve. However, identifying all the various pieces of comprehensive emergency management planning and clearly recognizing the side benefits are a challenge.

This workshop will review legal compliance, the emerging direction of emergency management planning and some of the unexpected benefits from a comprehensive plan.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Register online at www.ohioschoolboards.org/workshops or contact Laurie Miller, senior events manager, at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org.

State Legislative Conference

Wednesday, March 25

Ohio Statehouse Atrium, Columbus

9:15 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Cost is $130

Public education continues to be a hot topic at the Statehouse as we face yet another challenging year. It is likely to be filled with more education reform, policy initiatives and possible revisions to the school-funding formula.

As we begin our work with the new 131st General Assembly, what can we expect for schools? How will the governor's proposed biennial budget impact public education? School officials need to be involved and have their voices heard by attending the annual State Legislative Conference.

The 2015 State Legislative Conference provides school board members, administrators and treasurers a great venue to meet with their state legislators and discuss issues impacting public education. It is a golden opportunity to get the message out on the importance of investing in a strong public school system and putting a local face on these issues.

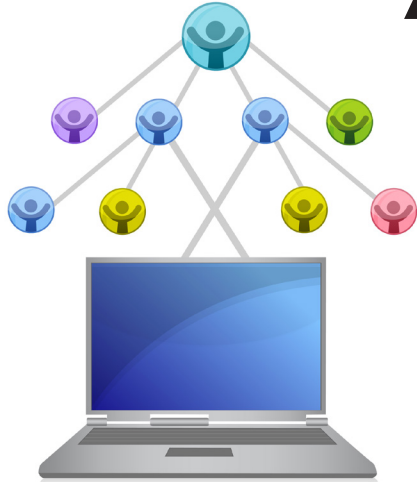

During the morning session, school district leaders will hear briefings on proposed legislation that can be used in discussions with their legislators during lunch and in office visits later that day. Attendees also will hear from legislative leaders about their views on public education and other priorities.

Attendees are urged to schedule office appointments to meet individually with their legislators and their aides following the luncheon, which concludes at 1 p.m. We also encourage you to extend a personal invitation to them to attend the luncheon.

Don't miss this annual event and chance to have your voice heard at the Statehouse. Registration will begin at 8:45 a.m. Register online at www.ohioschoolboards.org/workshops or contact Laurie Miller, OSBA senior events manager, at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

by Jay Smith, deputy director of legislative services

Legislators launch discussions on 'education deregulation' bill

Both the Ohio House and the Senate are currently entertaining discussions on giving more flexibility to school districts, especially those that are considered "high-performing."

The Senate introduced Senate Bill (SB) 3, which would provide districts relief from state-imposed mandates and has been termed "education deregulation." The legislation, sponsored by Senate President Keith Faber (R-Celina) and Sen. Cliff Hite (R-Findlay), is undergoing hearings in the Senate Education Committee. According to Hite, the legislation would free school districts from unnecessary state regulations as well as exempt high-performing districts from additional state mandates.

The reforms proposed in SB 3 include testing reform, reducing burdensome regulations on school leaders and providing regulatory relief for high-performing districts.

The testing reform provisions stem mostly from recent recommendations made by state Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Richard A. Ross. They include no longer requiring districts to administer the first- and second-grade math diagnostic test and the writing diagnostic for grades one through three. The bill also eliminates the fall administration of the third-grade reading test. In addition, the bill proposes limiting state-mandated testing time to no more than 2% of the school year on standardized tests and no more than 1% on practice tests. The legislation would give school districts the option to exceed these limits if their school boards pass a resolution authorizing it.

SB 3 also would raise the competitive bid threshold from $25,000 to $50,000 to reduce the number of requests for proposals for small projects. In addition, it would add clarifying language to allow school districts to contract for health services with hospitals, licensed health care plans and ESCs.

Finally, SB 3 would allow high-performing school districts more flexibility on fulfilling state-regulated mandates. The bill defines high-performing districts as those earning at least 85% of the total possible points on the Performance Index score; an "A" grade for performance indicators met; a four-year graduation rate of at least 93%; and a five-year graduation rate of at least 95%.

These districts would be exempt from teacher credentialing requirements included in the third-grade reading guarantee and teacher placement requirements based upon licensure. SB 3 also would allow a superintendent to hire individuals to teach who are not credentialed teachers, but have been endorsed by the school board as having the necessary experience and expertise to fulfill the position. In addition, the bill would require the Ohio School Facilities Commission to create a plan that would allow high-performing districts to draw down on a portion of the state funds they are eligible to receive and use them for technology, building expansion

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WORK!

compiled by Bryan Bullock, assistant editor

Small school district collaborative is achieving big results

A partnership among small, rural Ohio school districts is helping students succeed.

Twenty-one school districts in the southeastern part of the state formed the Ohio Appalachian Collaborative (OAC) in 2009. The districts have leveraged the partnership to attract more than $25 million in public and private grants from a variety of sources, including the state's Race to the Top grant and Straight A Innovation Fund.

The funding has allowed the districts to give teachers more opportunities for professional learning about formative instructional practices, the use of value-added data to adjust their instruction, college and career readiness planning and change leadership. It also helps the districts collaborate and offer more advanced classes to students.

"The glue that brought the districts together was the goal of enhancing opportunities for kids in rural communities," said Brad Mitchell, who facilitates the collaborative on behalf of the nonprofit group Battelle for Kids.

OAC has made an impact on students. The graduation rate among the districts increased from 85% in 2010 to 92% in 2012, more students are earning college credits while still in high school, more students are taking the ACT college entrance examination and college enrollment is up.

and physical changes to improve school safety or security.

The House also is expected to have similar discussions with pending language contained in House Bill 64, the state biennial budget legislation. At the time this article was written, the actual budget language had just been formally introduced in the House and contains many of the provisions that appear in SB 3.

Some additional provisions included in the budget proposal include: eliminating requirements for a district or school to report, and the Ohio Department of Education to post, information on extracurricular services offered to students; providing teachers rated

"accomplished" with true off-years from annual evaluation requirements; giving administrators the option to exempt teachers from annual evaluation requirements in the year the teacher is taking the Resident Educator Summative Assessment; reducing the mentoring requirements for the Resident Educator Program to years one and two; and allowing districts to decide the professional development needs for Resident Educator Program participants.

The budget bill also defines high-performing districts differently than SB 3. It defines a high-performing district as one that has an "A" in the overall value-added score; at least 95% of its third-grade students scoring proficient or higher on the third-grade reading assessment; and a four-year graduation rate of 93% or higher. Flexibility that the budget bill would provide to these districts includes relief from class size requirements; third-grade reading guarantee credentialing requirements; mandatory contracts for services with an ESC; and required consultation with ESCs for services for students with disabilities.
