

BRIEF CASE

THE OHIO SCHOOL BOARDS ASSOCIATION

Serving the public school leadership team

Ohio lands $70 million in latest round of Race to the Top funding

Ohio will receive a $70 million Early Learning Challenge Grant to support early childhood services and close the kindergarten readiness gap. Ohio is one of only nine states to receive funding. The grant will be used to improve programs that serve high-needs children from birth to 5 years old and to measure the results of programs aligned to Gov. John Kasich's goals of creating better metrics and coordination among agencies that serve young people.

ODE supporting two shared services pacts with $500,000 in grants

The Ohio Department of Education (ODE) is backing two shared services agreements with $500,000 in grants in hope that their efforts will serve as a model for other Ohio districts. The Southeastern Ohio Regional Service Center Collaborative and the Integrated Shared Services Network of Southwest Ohio will split the grants, which will be used to coordinate transportation services and computer purchases and potentially save districts millions of dollars.

Reminder: Send your board recognition articles, photos to OSBA

January is School Board Recognition Month, and districts are reminded to submit articles and photos highlighting their activities to OSBA to be featured in the Journal magazine and on the association's website. A resource kit to help districts honor board members is available at www.ohioschoolboards.org/school-board-recognition-month. OSBA also is sending each district personalized certificates to present to board members. Please send information and photos of your celebrations to Gary Motz at gmotz@ohioschoolboards.org or 8050 N. High St., Suite 100, Columbus, OH 43235. Materials also can be submitted online at www.ohioschoolboards.org/forms/sbrm.php.

NSBA executive director to retire in fall 2012

National School Boards Association (NSBA) Executive Director Anne Bryant will retire in September after more than 15 years of service to the association. During her tenure, NSBA launched the Center for Public Education, a national resource for information on public education research; established the Key Work of School Boards, a framework to guide boards of education in their work; and expanded NSBA's federal and legal advocacy, leading to successes on Capitol Hill and in the courts.

Award of Achievement deadline is Jan. 20

The deadline for submitting applications for OSBA's Award of Achievement is Jan. 20. Application forms were mailed to all school board members in December and also are available on OSBA's website at <http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/43085>.

OSBA headed to Washington

A team of board members and OSBA staff will participate in NSBA's Federal Relations Network (FRN) Legislative Conference, Feb. 5-7 in Washington, D.C. Ohio's FRN members will meet with their representatives and senators to develop new relationships and solidify established ones. FRN is a grassroots advocacy network of school board members from around the U.S. who are appointed by their state associations.

OSBA seeking NW Region board member to join student achievement team

The OSBA Student Achievement Leadership Team (SALT) has an opening for a board member from the Northwest Region. SALT works to make improved student achievement an ongoing and visible part of the work of all Ohio school boards. The team meets several times a year in Columbus and conducts some Capital Conference activities. To be considered, please contact OSBA Executive Director Richard Lewis at (614) 540-4000.

This month in OSBA history

OSBA Southwest Regional Secretary Dr. Al Kettlewell retired

Spelling bee runs out of words

Talk about superlative spellers.

Two fifth-grade spelling bee contestants at Chillicothe City's Worthington Elementary School battled it out for nearly 40 rounds, correctly spelling 250 words and exhausting the original list. A third contestant hung in for more than 30 rounds.

Faced with this unprecedented predicament, teacher Cathy Hall had to consult the district office to find out how to proceed. She even had to ask if lunch breaks were permitted.

It turned out that taking time for lunch was allowed, and after the meal break the bee resumed with a fresh set of words. Gabe Smith edged out classmate Carly Wood in the 39th round, while third place went to Chloe Liggett, who was eliminated in the 31st round.

Source: The Chillicothe Gazette

on Jan. 1, 2000. His 26 years as regional secretary still stands as the OSBA record. Kettlewell was named to the position in 1974 when he was assistant dean of career planning and academic services at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. Prior to that he served as a math and science teacher, assistant principal and school district superintendent. OSBA regional secretaries are now called regional managers.

New board members:

Trying to maneuver the maze of boardmanship?

Find your way at the New Board Member Academy

- Designed for new board members

- Plenty of networking opportunities

- Intensive, day-and-a-half academy held in

- two locations:

- Jan. 14-15 — Findlay Inn & Conference Center, Findlay
- Jan. 14-15 — Embassy Suites, Independence

School boardmanship is more complex and demanding than ever. To carry out their leadership duties effectively, new school board members must begin moving from the role of an involved citizen to that of a responsible elected official as soon as possible. High-quality board member education, designed specifically for newly elected board members, can help you become a more effective educational leader in your community.

These intensive day-and-a-half academies will focus on:

- the world of boardmanship
- communicating effectively
- board policy 101
- how Ohio schools are funded
- collective bargaining and employee relations issues
- the Sunshine Law and executive sessions

Cost for the academy is $190 per board member. Four books are included with workshop tuition: Boardmanship, Board-Treasurer Partnership, Board-Superintendent Partnership and Board-Legislature Partnership.

To register, call (614) 540-4000 or (800) 589-OSBA. More information can be found at www.ohioschoolboards.org/event_listing.

Become a better board member

Attend the Board Presidents Workshop

Two dates and four locations to choose from:

- Saturday, Jan. 28 at the OSBA office in Columbus or the Findlay Inn & Conference Center, Findlay
- Saturday, Feb. 4 at the Dayton Marriott, Dayton, or the Northeast Ohio Medical University, Rootstown

9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

These workshops, led by experienced OSBA staff, will present all the tools you need to improve your boardmanship skills and effectively lead your district. You don't have to be the board president to attend; board members looking to increase their leadership skills also can benefit.

School board presidents serve critical leadership roles in their districts. The president is the visible leader of the board and responsible for the efficient and legal operation of board business.

Unfortunately, too many board presidents attempt to fulfill these roles by going it alone and feel that on-the-job training is all that is needed to responsibly lead the board. It is to your advantage and a benefit to your school district to be well-informed and skillful enough to perform your leadership duties effectively. Bring your questions about your leadership roles.

Topics to be covered include legal issues affecting board members; effective board meetings; using parliamentary procedure effectively; dealing with controversy and public participation; open meetings and executive sessions; successful communications; working as a team; consensus building; indicators of an effective board; and networking with your colleagues.

Cost for the workshop is $155 per board member, and includes a copy of the Board Presidents' Handbook. To register, contact Laurie Miller, events manager, at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org. You can register online at www.ohioschoolboards.org/event_listing.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

by Michelle Francis, deputy director of legislative services

Legislature very busy before breaking for holiday recess

The General Assembly passed several pieces of legislation in December before recessing for its holiday break. Below is an update on some of the bills impacting public education.

Dyslexia bill picks up several amendments

House Bill (HB) 157, sponsored by Rep. Kirk Schuring (R-Canton) and Rep. Tom Letson (D-Warren), is a bipartisan bill that would authorize educational service centers to provide teacher professional development on dyslexia. Even though the bill authorizes ESCs to provide professional development on dyslexia, current law does not expressly prohibit this now.

Specifically, the legislation:

- Permits an ESC to engage the services of a “dyslexia specialist” to provide training for K-4 teachers in school districts and other public schools that contract with the ESC for training services on the indicators of dyslexia and the types of instruction that children with dyslexia need.
- Permits groups of local school districts within an ESC’s territory to engage the services of a dyslexia specialist if the ESC does not provide the training.

HB 157 picked up two big amendments in the Senate Education Committee related to district agreements with ESCs and changes to public college preparatory boarding schools. Both of these issues were originally addressed last year in the biennial budget bill, HB 153, but the General Assembly made additional changes and used HB 157 as the vehicle.

House Bill 153 required all school districts with a student count of 16,000 or fewer to enter into an agreement with an ESC for services for which the ESC may receive the statutory per-pupil payments. This requirement applies to local, city and exempted village school districts.

Under HB 157, a city or exempted village district that wishes to switch from one ESC to another for next school year now has until March 1, 2012, rather than Jan. 1, 2012, to notify the current ESC of its intent to do so. A local district, regardless of whether it has a formal service agreement with an ESC, also must notify its current ESC by March 1 if it intends to switch to another ESC for next school year. In the future, city, exempted village and local districts may terminate their service agreements only in odd-numbered years, and only if the termination notices occur by Jan. 1 of that year.

As with city and exempted village districts, when a local school district chooses to align with a different ESC, the funding will follow from the current ESC to the new one. HB 157 corrects an oversight in HB 153 that would have prevented the flow of funds to a new ESC chosen by a local district.

If a school district does notify an ESC of termination of a service agreement, the Ohio Department of Education (ODE) is requiring that notification be sent at the same time to Prabir Sarkar at: prabir.sarkar@ode.state.oh.us. Please note that a school district does not have to choose a new ESC to provide primary services at the same time as the termination.

In addition, HB 157 requires service agreements between ESCs and local school districts for the 2012-2013 school year to be finalized by June 30, 2012.

When any district establishes a new ESC service agreement, a copy of the document also should be sent to Sarkar. These agreements are due to ODE by July 1, or before June 1, if the parties want the state to start payments with the first foundation payment in July.

The second amendment to HB 157 made changes to the public college preparatory boarding school program for at-risk students that was originally created in HB 153. The amendment clarifies some of the rules and expectations for the program. The amendment provides that the boarding schools can leverage private financing as an alternative to bonds; mandates a process to see that fiscal operations are in line with Ohio standards; ensures schools provide safe and reliable transportation for students; and clarifies that state funds are to be used for classroom facilities only.

HB 157 was passed by both chambers with an emergency clause, which means it became effective immediately when the governor signed it on Dec. 21.

Local Government Innovation Fund revised

The Local Government Innovation Fund (LGIF) and the Local Government Innovation Council (LGIC), which will administer the fund, were created last year in the biennial budget bill, HB 153. The program was created to provide seed money or start-up funds for school districts and local governments to implement innovative programs and practices for shared services and/or efficiencies. Like many new programs created in the budget bill, the LGIF and LGIC legislative language needed some additional clarification.

HB 371, cosponsored by Rep. Ron Amstutz (R-Wooster) and Rep. Carlton Weddington (D-Columbus), was introduced and put on the fast track to make changes to the program. It was passed by both chambers and signed by the governor on Dec. 21. The bill primarily:

- modifies the application process for loans and grants under the program,
- modifies the criteria

used to evaluate proposals under the program,

- includes in the Local Government Innovation Fund the repayments of principal and interest on loans made from the fund,
- modifies the amount of money the council may award to political subdivisions,
- modifies the manner in which awards are to be divided between larger and smaller political subdivisions,
- makes an appropriation.

The LGIF program consists of $45 million to be awarded to political subdivisions, including school districts, for projects that promote efficiency, shared services, co-production and mergers among local governments. The program consists of $9 million in grants for feasibility studies and $36 million in loans for projects. Eligibility is limited to political subdivisions or groups of political subdivisions located in Ohio.

The Ohio Department of Development is responsible for facilitating the program, and has scheduled six regional information sessions and a live webinar to provide information about it. No RSVP is required to attend the information sessions, but registration is required to participate in the live webinar. Those interested in learning more about LGIF are encouraged to attend one of the following sessions:

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WORK!

compiled by Angela Penquite, communication design manager

Students' "Pennies for PJs" raises $1,500 for kids in hospital

First-graders at Canton City's Clarendon Elementary School warmed the holidays for children who had to spend Christmas in the hospital.

The students collected pennies as a service project. They dug deep into their pockets, broke open their piggy banks and gave up spare change from their Book Fair.

A large, colored thermometer on a classroom door showed the progress as they reached their goal of $400. It spilled over to show a mark of $1,500, enough to give pajamas and a book to 119 children at Aultman Hospital and the oncology and hematology floors at Akron Children's Hospital.

"I feel really special to make people feel good," said student Laurny Swonger.

The first-graders also solicited the help of other students, school board members, administrators, principals and local businesses.

Principal Nicole Herberghs said the kids took the lead on the project and took their goal seriously.

Teachers Kim Robbins, Paula Weaver and Lucretia Scalia were overwhelmed, but not surprised by their students' generosity.

"They happily participated in this knowing there was nothing tangible in it for them," said Robbins. "They have continued to come to school each day and drop pennies in the jar with smiles on their faces."
