Trump budget slashes public education funding, promotes school choice

President Donald Trump’s 2018 education budget proposal calls for cutting public school funding by nearly $10 billion while increasing funding to expand voucher and charter school programs. In a news release, National School Boards Association Executive Director and CEO Thomas J. Gentzel said, “President Trump’s proposed $9.2 billion cut to education initiatives will deliver a devastating blow to the country’s public education system if enacted by Congress. ... Proposals for vouchers, tuition tax credits and the Title I portability ... (will) redirect taxpayers’ dollars from public to private schools, effectively creating a second system of taxpayer-funded education.”

OSBA announces Capital Conference General Session speakers

Two captivating speakers will headline the General Sessions at the 2017 OSBA Capital Conference. The Opening General Session presenter is Sonia Manzano, who for over 30 years, inspired, educated and delighted children and families as Maria on PBS’ “Sesame Street.” The Closing General Session speaker is Josh Radnor, known for his role as Ted on the award-winning CBS comedy series “How I Met Your Mother.” The conference, Nov. 12-14 in Columbus, features more than 150 workshop sessions, countless networking opportunities and a world-class trade exhibition. For more information, visit http://conference.ohioschoolboards.org.

Nomination deadline for OSBA offices, committees drawing near

The deadline for submitting nominations for 2017 OSBA regional and state elected offices and committee appointments is June 30. All school board members are encouraged to apply. Serving as an officer or committee member is a great way to network with board members from other districts and represent your board and district at region and state events. A Call for Nominations brochure and application were mailed to all board members and are posted at http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/40095. Check with your regional manager for more information; their contact information is listed at www.ohioschoolboards.org/regions.

OSBA Legal Assistance Fund support helps district prevail in court case

In a case involving the OSBA Legal Assistance Fund (LAF), the Ohio Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of a school district’s searches of a student’s bags. In State v. Polk, the court concluded that schools have a compelling interest in protecting students from harm, and it is reasonable for school personnel to search a student’s book bag to determine the bag’s ownership and whether there is anything dangerous in it. LAF joined several statewide education organizations in providing an amici curiae brief supporting the school district. For details on State v. Polk, visit http://links.

Khan Academy SAT practice leads to student score gains

The College Board and Khan Academy have released data linking the free Official SAT Practice on the Khan Academy website to substantial score gains on the PSAT/NMSQT and SAT. The data included nearly 250,000 students from the graduating class of 2017 who took the new PSAT/NMSQT and the new SAT in the past year. Students who practiced 20 hours on the Official SAT Practice achieved an average 115-point score gain on the SAT — nearly double the average gain among students who didn’t use Khan Academy. Improved scores were seen across gender; family income levels; race and ethnicity; and parental education. Educators can visit http://satpractice.org/k12 for resources and tips to encourage students to practice. Students should visit http://satpractice.org to sign up.

Hiiliard City students test their ninja skills

Students in an engineering class at Hilliard City’s Hilliard Davidson High School bounced off a trampoline and grabbed hold of a set of nunchaku dangling from the ceiling.

Those in Bill Kuch’s Introduction to Engineering Design class had to find out if their projects were “ninja-worthy.”

Kuch tries to incorporate a real-world project in his class every year. He got the idea while listening to the radio and hearing an ad for “American Ninja Warrior,” the popular obstacle-course competition on NBC.

The nearby Movement Lab Ohio, which offers Ninja Warrior classes, provided the perfect testing ground.

Last year Kuch took his students to play laser tag.

OSBA Pre-Board Candidate Workshop

Know someone who is thinking of running for your school board or someone who would be an asset to your board? Encourage them to attend this workshop to learn the responsibilities of boardmanship.

This free workshop describes the roles and responsibilities of school board service and requirements for running for a seat on a local board of education. Set for Saturday, July 15, from 10 a.m. to noon at the OSBA office in Columbus, this workshop will be led by two veteran OSBA staff members and include time for questions.

This session is for people who are thinking about running for their school board and current board of education members appointed to office who must now run for election.

Space is limited, so contact OSBA Senior Events Manager Laurie Miller at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org to register.

For more information on running for a board of education seat, visit OSBA’s board candidate webpage, www.ohioschoolboards.org/running-school-board. Learn more about this and other board candidate workshops at www.ohioschoolboards.org/workshops.

Celebrate the stars in your district at the

OSBA Student Achievement Fair

Tuesday, Nov. 14, 2017 • 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. • Greater Columbus Convention Center

The OSBA Capital Conference Student Achievement Fair highlights outstanding student performance groups and fresh, innovative initiatives from school districts across the state.

Student Achievement Fair performing groups

OSBA will choose one school district performing group from each of the association’s five regions to perform during the Student Achievement Fair. Past performing groups have included choirs, bands, orchestras, percussion ensembles and cheerleaders. Each group will perform for 20 minutes. To nominate a performing group, submit a nomination at http://conference.ohioschoolboards.org/saf-nominations and email an electronic video audition or YouTube link to Gwen Samet, administrative assistant of board and management services, at gsamet@ohioschoolboards.org. Only electronic recordings will be accepted. The nomination deadline is Friday, June 23.

Student Achievement Fair district programs

OSBA is accepting nominations for district programs. These programs showcase exemplary programs that improve student achievement. Examples of district programs in the Student Achievement Fair include one-to-one technology programs, STEM for middle grades, workforce exchange programs and career center culinary arts programs. For more ideas, visit http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/60021 to view the list of 2016 Student Achievement Fair district programs.

One hundred programs highlighting student achievement will be selected. While multiple programs may be submitted for consideration, no more than two per district will be selected, so districts should prioritize their submissions. Nominate a district program at http://conference.ohioschoolboards.org/saf-nominations.

District programs will be showcased in a 10-by-10-foot booth, which can accommodate up to five people. Nominations will be accepted until all booths have been filled. Please note: Internet access IS NOT provided with your booth. If you need internet access, you can purchase it from the convention center. The 2016 daily rate for Wi-Fi was $99 per device. You will need a credit card to make the purchase.

Have questions?

If you have questions about nominating a student performing group or district program, contact Gwen Samet (gsamet@ohioschoolboards.org) or Teri Morgan (tmorgan@ohioschoolboards.org) at (614) 540-4000 or (800) 589-OSBA.

House Bill (HB) 170, introduced by Reps. Rick Carfagna (R-Genoa Township) and Mike Duffey (R-Worthington), seeks to define “computer science” in the Ohio Revised Code and aims to become part of the K-12 education curriculum. Sponsors of the bill feel this legislation is necessary to ensure students are better prepared for challenges in today’s science and technology fields.

“Increasingly, automation is eliminating jobs in Ohio’s most historically reliant industries such as automotive manufacturing,” Duffey stated in a press release. “We need to encourage students to pursue career paths that are more likely to exist and provide a living wage well into the future.

“Computer science … is underrepresented in Ohio, in part because we have mandates for graduation requirements such as algebra 2. What we are doing now is providing flexibility to Ohio students and school districts to increase their offering of computer science and, in doing so, better preparing Ohio’s workforce for the jobs that realistically will exist. By building a culture much more supportive of computer science, Ohio will also increase the likelihood that we will attract some of the fastest growing companies in the world or create one ourselves as an Ohio startup.”

The bill would require the State Board of Education to adopt academic content standards and a model curriculum for computer science for grades K-12 by Dec. 31, 2018. This requirement does not make it mandatory for local school districts to use or adopt these new standards and model curriculum.

In addition, the bill would add computer science instruction as an option to other prescribed subjects that meet the high school curriculum requirements. For districts choosing to add computer science instruction, students would have the opportunity to replace one of four required courses in math, one of three required courses in science or one of five required elective courses. Students could not substitute computer science for any life sciences or biology courses.

Districts that choose to offer computer science education under this bill must employ an individual who is licensed in computer science or holds a license endorsement in the computer science field. Licensed individuals would be permitted to qualify for a supplemental teaching license but would have to pass a computer science content exam before obtaining the supplemental license. After two or more years of teaching under a supplemental license, teachers would be required to advance to a standard educator license in computer science.

What started out as a small community service project has grown into an annual event that draws hundreds of people to Barnesville EV Schools.

The student-run, community-supported Blood Bash, held May 5 in the high school gymnasium, collected donated blood for use in nearly 50 hospitals in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

“We’re a small school that does really, really well with this drive,” coordinator and Barnesville High School biology teacher Jill Crosier told a local newspaper. “It’s grown over the years because the students have made it bigger, and we have a community that’s willing to support giving blood.”

Students begin planning the event in January. They each recruit two donors to take part in the blood drive, which the Central Blood Bank says has collected enough blood in more than 30 years to save nearly 39,000 lives — 10 times the population of Barnesville.

The daylong Blood Bash takes on a tailgate-like atmosphere with tents and grilled food. Attendees play games, such as Cornhole, and toss Frisbees. Throughout the day, students register and welcome donors, then walk them from station to station.

The community supports the event, with local sponsors providing student-designed T-shirts for blood donors. Other businesses offer gift cards.

Source: The Daily Jeffersonian

In order for a student to apply one unit of instruction in computer science to replace a unit of math or science under the bill, teachers must be appropriately licensed and complete a professional development program determined appropriate by the district school board prior to teaching the course.

HB 170 is expected to see a vote in the House Education and Career Readiness Committee prior to the summer recess. OSBA, the Buckeye Association of School Administrators and the Ohio Association of School Business Officials recently offered joint testimony in support of the legislation. For more information, visit OSBA’s BillTracker page at www.ohioschoolboards.org/billtracker.

Budget update

On June 12, the Ohio Senate Finance Committee is expected to accept a substitute version of Amended Substitute House Bill (Am. Sub. HB) 49, the biennial budget. Following the introduction of the Senate version, the Senate Finance Committee is expected to host some committee hearings that most likely will include additional amendments prior to a vote out of committee and passage by the Ohio Senate on June 21.

The bill is then expected to go before a conference committee, where appointed members from each chamber will work out the differences between the House and Senate versions of Am. Sub. HB 49. Once complete, the legislation will go before each chamber for an up-or-down vote before going to the governor’s office for signing.

School board members and administrators should continue following the budget process and communicate with legislators on the potential impacts on school districts. Please contact OSBA’s Division of Legislative Services if you have questions on the budget bill or any other legislation.
