Attendance Considerations for Remote Learning

- Districts and community schools should track attendance for all students, regardless of the mode of learning. The tracking of attendance does not have to be so precise as to know what every student is doing at every moment with regard to the student's educational experience.
- It is not necessary to take attendance hourly, but the attendance information collected must be reported in hourly increments for each student.
- Synchronous—hours equate to the same as in-person instruction
- Asynchronous—evidence of participation
