Chardon Local marks somber anniversary

Chardon Local (Geauga) and its community remembered the three students killed in the Feb. 27, 2012, shooting at Chardon High School with student service projects, a memorial walk, vigils and concerts on the one-year anniversary of the tragic event. The district and community also honored students wounded in the attack, as well as school staff and emergency personnel who first responded to the shooting.

ODE releases finalized state report cards

The 2011-2012 state report cards released on Feb. 27 show Ohio’s schools continuing to make steady academic gains. The Ohio Department of Education reported that Ohio schools improved in 14 of 26 indicators and met the state’s performance goal on 21 of 26 indicators. Visit www.reportcard.ohio.gov for more details, as well as links to district and building report cards.

Policy brief calls for more oversight in funding ‘choice’ schools

A report from the National Education Policy Center calls for “a new level of scrutiny” in public funding of alternatives to traditional schools, including charters and vouchers. The study notes that the specific costs and needs of students vary from school to school, which means funding requirements also will vary. This requires rigorously monitoring charter school and voucher funding, with an emphasis on equity, transparency and assuring funding is reaching the intended students. Download the brief at http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/56689.

Charter school leader charged with illegally spending $1.2 million

A Cuyahoga County grand jury has indicted Romy Coles, leader of the Lion of Judah Academy, a Cleveland charter school, The (Cleveland) Plain Dealer reported. Coles is accused of illegally diverting $1.2 million in taxpayer funds from the academy to a business he formed to run the school. Several other officials from the charter school also were indicted, including Carl Shye Jr., who is serving a two-year prison sentence for stealing money from other charter schools.

More speakers announced for State Legislative Conference

Additional speakers recently confirmed for the March 20 State Legislative Conference at the Ohio Statehouse include state Reps. Ron Amstutz (R-Wooster), Bill Hayes (R-Harrison Township); and Debbie Phillips (D-Athens). Also speaking is Ohio Senate President Keith Faber (R-Celina). In addition, the governor’s office has been invited to speak. The conference, hosted by OSBA, the Ohio Association of School Business Officials (OASBO) and the Buckeye Association of School Administrators
OSBA, BASA, and OASBO lobbyists will be on hand to provide updates and talking points. Visit http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/23596 for more information and to register.

NE Region member sought for OSBA committee post

OSBA seeks a Northeast Region school board member to serve as an alternate on OSBA’s Audit Committee. The committee oversees OSBA’s annual financial statement audit and is charged with ensuring the integrity and quality of accounting practices, financial reporting, disclosure and internal controls. Candidates must have a basic familiarity with financial statements. Alternates attend up to three meetings a year in Columbus and may vote on committee business in the absence of the Northeast Region Audit Committee member. The two-year term begins in May. Those interested should send a résumé to Janice Smith, chief financial officer, Ohio School Boards Association, 8050 N. High St., Suite 100, Columbus, OH 43235. The application deadline is April 1.

Columbus City uses dance to help students mind manners

Columbus City’s Linden STEM Academy is teaching elementary school students fancy footwork to help them with their social skills. Students learn ballroom dancing in the 10-week, twice-weekly course called Dancing Classrooms. Students learn the tango, rumba, waltz, fox trot, swing and merengue. The lessons are designed to help students learn social skills, including basic etiquette, how to look people in the eye and how to be confident.

Similar programs are available in schools in northern Ohio and other parts of the country, but Linden STEM Academy is believed to be the first school in central Ohio to offer such a program.

“It’s teamwork and respect and elegance,” Linden Principal Janet Hinds told a local newspaper. “How can you not be proud of that?”

This month in OSBA history

In March 1997, the Ohio Supreme Court made its first ruling in the DeRolph school-funding case. The court said the state’s funding system for schools was unconstitutional and ordered the General Assembly to come up with a “complete, systematic overhaul” of the system within 12 months. OSBA’s Legal Assistance Fund filed briefs on behalf of public schools throughout the long-running case.

Management Development Series #2: Bring your own technology — possibilities and challenges

Thursday, April 18
OSBA office, Columbus
Cost is $90

Bring-your-own-technology (BYOT) programs are in the forefront of many conversations on education trends. There are many considerations when deciding if a BYOT program is right for your district or school. Whether your district has a BYOT program in place or is considering starting one, this workshop is for you.

The workshop will address considerations related to policies, procedures, infrastructure and program purpose. We also will highlight what is going on around the state with BYOT programs and what lessons have been learned in developing and implementing these programs. Learn more about starting or expanding a BYOT program, and share challenges, successes and concerns with other districts.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Cost for the workshop is $90 per attendee, and includes lunch and materials.
To register, contact Laurie Miller, senior events manager, at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org. You can register online at www.ohioschoolboards.org/event_listing.

Celebrate the stars in your district at the OSBA Student Achievement Fair

Nov. 12, 2013 • Greater Columbus Convention Center

The OSBA Capital Conference Student Achievement Fair highlights outstanding initiatives from school districts across the state. OSBA is seeking fresh, innovative programs or practices your district is willing to share with thousands of Ohio school district representatives. One hundred programs and practices will be selected based on creativity and impact on student achievement. The fair will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 12, during the OSBA Capital Conference.

Five performing groups from across Ohio will be selected to entertain attendees during the Student Achievement Fair. To be considered, you must submit an audio or video recording of the performing group. DVDs or CDs can be mailed to OSBA or a video or MP3 can be submitted with the online application.

OSBA is now accepting nominations for district programs and performing groups. While multiple programs may be submitted for consideration, no more than two per district will be selected, so districts should prioritize their submissions.

Nominate your district at www.ohioschoolboards.org/saf-nominations. The nomination deadline is May 24, 2013.

Ohio Statehouse Atrium, Columbus
Cost is $130

New year – new legislature

Public education continues to be a hot topic at the Statehouse after another challenging year of education reform policy initiatives. As we begin the 130th General Assembly, what can we expect for schools? How will the proposed biennial budget impact funding? What will the new school-funding formula look like? School officials need to be involved and have their voices heard by attending the annual State Legislative Conference.

The 2013 State Legislative Conference provides school board members, administrators and treasurers the opportunity to meet with their state legislators and discuss issues impacting public education. It is your opportunity to get the message out on the importance of a strong public school system.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. To register, contact Laurie Miller, OSBA senior events manager, at (614) 540-4000; (800) 589-OSBA; or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org. Good decisions require informed decision makers

As a member of your school district’s governing body, you are called at every meeting to make decisions. Some decisions are easy; others complicated. So, what can be done to improve board member development?

Almost all board members agree they could use more training in tackling school district problems. When asked how, board members say they want training that is highly task-oriented, takes a short period of time and is done in small groups led by outstanding instructors.

To meet these requests, OSBA worked with board members across the state to develop the 12th annual Board Leadership Institute. The two-day workshop is specifically designed for board members and will focus on a wide range of topics. Participants will have the opportunity to hear keynote speakers, choose from among 18 breakout sessions and network with each other.

Twenty points will be awarded for attendance at the institute, which may be applied toward receiving OSBA’s Award of Achievement and Master Board Member award.

Keynote speakers set the tone for BLI

OSBA has invited Ohio Attorney General Mike DeWine to kick off on Friday, April 26. A former U.S. representative, U.S. senator and Ohio lieutenant governor, DeWine recently created the Attorney General’s School Safety Task Force, made up of educators, school associations and local law enforcement and first responders. OSBA is part of the task force, which will make recommendations on school safety policy.

State Board of Education President Debe Terhar will close BLI on Saturday, April 27. Hear an update on state education reform efforts and what they mean to local school boards.

Registration and hotel details

BLI will be held in Columbus on April 26 and 27. Cost for the institute is $240, and includes continental breakfast and lunch on both days and materials. To register, contact Laurie Miller, senior events manager, at (614) 540-4000; (800) 589-OSBA; or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org.

The Hilton Columbus/Polaris will be the site of the 2013 Board Leadership Institute. The Hilton is in north Columbus and is easily accessible from I-71, offers free parking and is close to many dining opportunities. OSBA secured a reduced hotel rate for BLI attendees: just $123 per night if the room is booked by April 5. To reserve your hotel room, contact the Hilton Columbus/Polaris at (614) 885-1600.

For more details, visit www.ohioschoolboards.org/board-leadership-institute.

OSBA, the Buckeye Association of School Administrators and the Ohio Association of School Business Officials presented joint testimony March 1 on the governor’s biennial budget proposal, House Bill (HB) 59. The groups testified before the House Primary and Secondary Education Subcommittee of the House Finance Committee.

Their testimony primarily focused on the proposed school-funding formula itself and its possible impact on districts. It also covered cuts to ESC funding; proposed ESC governance changes; additional student subgroup accountability; voucher expansion; charter school funding; and expansion of the “parent trigger” provisions. A complete copy of the testimony and other budget-related documents are available on the OSBA BillTracker page at http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/23605.

Following are some of the key pieces of the testimony.

Funding methodology

The administration’s proposal contains a number of provisions meant to account for varying student needs throughout the state and across districts. However, one necessary component of any school-funding system is missing from the proposal in HB 59. The administration’s plan does not attempt to quantify the cost of providing basic education services as a beginning point by which all other components would build. This is a major departure from most school-funding methodologies.

ESC funding

Funding for ESCs is drastically reduced under the education proposal in HB 59. This follows a series of cuts to their state funding over the past two biennia. OSBA opposes the reduction in funding to ESCs as contained in HB 59.

While some ESC reductions mean the dollars will remain with school districts, there are other overall funding cuts that will mean ESC services will become more expensive. If the intent is to create competition among ESCs, the unintended consequence will be increased costs to districts. Some funding that was formerly provided through ESCs for school districts, such as resources for early childhood and gifted education, would be diverted directly to districts to use in purchasing these services. However, in many cases these new funding streams will not actually mean additional funds, because many districts are on a guarantee. They will only receive funding equal to the previous year. Funding for these categories fall within the formula — not as add-ons to their previous funding.

ESC governance

HB 59 contains language that

effectively eliminates the current ESC governance structure. The bill calls for a governance plan to be set by a majority of the clients that have entered into an agreement with the ESC.

The plan would determine the number of governing board members and terms of office, as well as an allocation of members to each of the participating clients. This would ultimately eliminate elected representatives, replacing them with appointed members from the client districts.

Depending on the profiles of ESC clients, the educational mission could be compromised. OSBA opposes this dilution of public accountability and the educational focus of these entities.

Subgroup compliance — privatizing education

A provision in HB 59 would require districts to outsource services to meet the needs of students in the various subgroups as listed on the new report card. OSBA opposes such outsourcing for those subgroups, which include:

- gifted education;
- economically disadvantaged students;
- English language learners;
- students with disabilities.

The funding contained in the formula for each of these subgroups would be diverted to a third-party provider if students in these areas fail to show “consistent progress.” There is no explanation of what is consistent progress.

With the recent changes to the report card system; the adoption of the Common Core curriculum; the new teacher and principal evaluation requirements; and compliance requirements for the new third-grade reading guarantee, it is likely this provision will affect many districts in the short run. Also, since many districts are on a guarantee, they may not actually receive appropriately dedicated funds for these students.

Income-based school voucher

HB 59 would create a new voucher based on family income. Families with incomes at or below 200% of the federal poverty guidelines would be eligible for vouchers — regardless of the academic rating of the school. This would apply to every school district in the state.

While voucher payments would come directly from the state and not from a school district’s funds, the program would continue to divert public tax dollars away from public education. This proposal would not provide accountability for how the money is spent or determine whether students would have a quality “choice.”

OSBA opposes this new voucher proposal. Ohio currently has four voucher programs, the most of any state in the nation.

K-3 literacy voucher/third-grade reading guarantee

This proposal would expand eligibility for the EdChoice voucher program to K-3 students enrolled in buildings that received a “D” or “F” in the new K-3 literacy component of the new report card on two of the three most recent report cards. Funding for this voucher would be deducted from the resident school district. OSBA opposes the expansion of vouchers in Ohio.

Charter school funding

Charter school funding would be similar to public school district funding in the way their funds are calculated under the proposed bill. The Core Opportunity Aid calculation would assume charter schools have a zero valuation per-pupil, effectively giving them the full $5,000 per pupil.

Payments to charter schools would continue to be deducted from the resident school district. However, these deductions do not appear on the district-by-district simulation spreadsheets, so it is unclear how each district will be affected by charter school funding.

OSBA opposes deducting charter school funding from the resident school district, particularly portions of the payments that have to come from local resources.

‘Parent trigger’ provision

The pilot program from HB 153 that applies only to the Columbus City Schools would be expanded statewide in HB 59.

The proposal would allow parents of students in the lowest 5% of school buildings to take action to reconstitute the school through various options — the so-called parent trigger. The lowest 5% calculation would apply regardless of improvements those buildings make. Even when all districts and buildings improve, there will always be a lowest 5%. There are already options for parental involvement that would help improve struggling schools. In addition, no evidence has been presented to show that the parent trigger increases performance.

OSBA opposes the expansion of this program. The association believes in oversight of public tax dollars and that schools should be accountable to publicly elected boards of education.

Following the organizations’ testimony, Dr. Howard Fleeter, consultant for the Education Tax Policy Institute (ETPI), testified before the committee. Fleeter presented his analysis of HB 59 and shared some opportunities for changes to the bill that could improve it. A copy of Fleeter’s testimony also is available on the OSBA BillTracker page at the link listed at the beginning of this article.

Contacts needed
We are pleased that many of you have contacted legislators to let them know how the proposal would affect your districts. We urge you to continue making those contacts. Feel free to use the information found in our testimony to help tell your story.

These initial communications with your legislators as the House considers what to do with the governor’s proposal are crucial in amplifying the need for changes. It also is important for school district representatives to testify before the House subcommittee during the public testimony sessions scheduled for March 12, 13 and 14. Please contact us now if you need assistance in developing testimony, or if there are other ways we can help.

For the latest legislative updates, please contact the OSBA legislative division at (800) 589-6722.
