January is School Board Recognition Month

As citizens who serve children and represent their communities, individual school board members face complex and demanding challenges. Yet, few people fully understand the scope and far-reaching implications of board members' responsibilities. All Ohioans should recognize the vital contributions of these men and women and focus attention on the crucial role these elected public officials play in the education of our children. They make a difference for students.

Their job is to establish a vision for the education program, design a structure to achieve that vision, assure schools are accountable to the community and strongly advocate continuous improvement in student learning. That job entails an endless string of meetings and school functions to attend; reams of reports, agendas, proposals and other information to read and study; and a host of difficult decisions to make.

School board members come from all walks of life. They are farmers, secretaries, doctors, lawyers, homemakers, teachers, architects, truck drivers, professors, business owners and real estate agents, to name just a few.

While they wear many hats in the workday world, school board members put on a collective hat when they get down to the business of leading their school districts. Board members must pull together as a team toward a common goal — helping students achieve. While they may individually disagree on certain issues, their role as a board is to consistently strive toward that goal.

Board members contribute hundreds and hundreds of hours each year leading their districts. Whether crafting policies, hiring top-notch administrators, listening to staff and student concerns, or recognizing outstanding programs, board members always keep their eyes on the prize of student achievement.

The time spent in board meetings represents just a small fraction of the hours school board members devote to leading their districts. They also work hard at seminars and training sessions to keep abreast of the latest trends in educational leadership, are deeply involved in community activities, and spend many hours in the schools and at extracurricular events.

Their love of learning and concern and caring for students, staff and the community, drive board members' desire to lead so students can achieve.

To participate in this program, first create a committee to plan and organize appreciation activities. The committee should, in turn, contact school personnel, students and community leaders to schedule or plan events and activities. Some activities may require a serious approach, while others can be more lighthearted and entertaining.

One board member, when asked, "What recognition activities mean the most to you?" said, "Anything that comes from the kids." Others said they also appreciate sincere comments from the community and school staff. This kit offers suggestions about what students, parents and the community can do to recognize school board members. Feel free to use and adapt anything in the kit.

Be sure to recognize them in public forums and invite news reporters and editors to attend.

Be creative — actions speak louder than words!

And remember, any event in which there will be a quorum of school board members present is considered an open meeting under Ohio's Sunshine Law.

Please send any photos and information from your celebrations to OSBA's Crystal Davis at cdavis@ohioschoolboards.org or 8050 N. High St., Suite 100, Columbus, OH 43235. Information/photos also can be submitted to www.ohioschoolboards.org/forms/SBRM.php. The deadline is Feb. 16. OSBA will feature a variety of photos from celebrations around the state in our Journal magazine and our website at <http://www.ohioschoolboards.org/school-board-recognition-month>.

How to use this School Board Recognition Month Kit

This School Board Recognition Month Kit is designed to give you ideas and help you recognize the valuable contributions of your board of education members. This Web-based resource can be used in two ways: either download the entire resource kit and print it out, or download those files you wish to customize yourself.

The kit contains:

School Board Recognition Month tips

These are ideas for administrators, staff, students, parents, community groups, service clubs and businesses. Adapt the activities to your needs.

Sample district activities

Districts have expanded upon ideas in this kit to recognize their school board members. Read what some districts and newspapers have done.

Suggested editorial: Say "thanks!" to our school board members

Personalize and customize this suggested editorial. Then print it on district letterhead and submit it to your community newspaper.

School Board Recognition Month sample proclamation

If you ask your township, village, city or county's elected officials to proclaim January School Board Recognition Month in your community, here is sample language for them to use.

Sample news release

Send this news release (personalized and retyped on district letterhead) to your community newspapers. If your county has only one newspaper, why not work with all the school districts in the county to submit one news release with all board of education members included?

Sample letter to community groups and service clubs

Use this letter to introduce the program to community groups.

Sample public service announcements

These radio public service announcements (PSAs) can be faxed or emailed to radio and TV stations, or you could record them in a pleasant voice and deliver the tapes to the stations. A personal visit and explanation can help get them on the air. If you have a student-run television production studio, create a video with images of the board in action and record the voice over the images.

New poster

OSBA will mail one, 22" by 35", four-color poster to each district. When it arrives, be creative with the poster to thank your school board. You can add their names in large letters and display it at a board meeting. If you would like an electronic version to use to print additional copies or customize, contact Crystal Davis (see contact information below). Then you can put a number of posters around your school and community or use them as greeting cards and have staff and community members sign personal notes on them.

Art

The School Board Recognition Month art is saved in two formats: jpeg and Adobe Acrobat pdf. Both formats work on both Macintosh and PC. You will find a single (black) and a four-color version at www.ohioschoolboards.org/school-board-recognition-month. Other file formats can be provided upon request.

Text version

The entire School Board Recognition Month Kit is available as an Acrobat PDF file at www.ohioschoolboards.org/school-board-recognition-month.

The Tahoma font family was used in producing these materials.

School Board Recognition Month tips

Tips for school administrators

- Host a surprise dinner banquet for board members and invite the school staff, community leaders and members of the news media. Coordinate this activity with the board members' families. Encourage staff to prepare a nice "roast" of each board member.
- Make bookmarks featuring the school board. Include board member photos; the district name, address and phone number; board meeting dates, times and locations; the district's mission statement; and a brief "thank you" to the board for its support of student reading. Distribute these bookmarks to schools, libraries, boys' and girls' clubs, recreation centers and bookstores.
- Arrange for a city or county official to proclaim January School Board Recognition Month. A sample proclamation is included in this kit (will be available in December 2015).
- Feature recent school board accomplishments in the January district and school newsletters, and in the staff bulletin.
- Profile board members in the January district and school newsletters and staff bulletin. Include information on their families, careers, hobbies and volunteer activities.
- Arrange for a music recital and ask each board member to give a five-minute speech about themselves and how they want to further public education.
- Invite each board member to visit the district's schools and interact with students depending on age (read to first graders, perform a science experiment with a high school chemistry student).
- Ask board members to share their positive thoughts about the district's students, staff and community and to describe their role on the board. Post these on the school website, include in school newsletter or submit to your local newspaper.
- Add a special school board recognition "thank you" to the district's Internet home page.
- Design, order and distribute special bumper or window stickers. Include the school district colors and logo in the design. Possible slogans are:
 - Public schools make a difference! For every child. Every day. In every community.
 - Speak up for public schools
 - Putting the "public" in public schools
 - Celebrate leadership!
 - Elected to work for our kids! Thank you school board
 - January is School Board Recognition Month!
 - Our school board is empowering students to excel

Tips for staff, students and parents

- Invite board members to a brunch cooked by staff. Encourage board members to invite spouses and other friends or relatives who support them in their roles as board members to this special brunch.
- Display board appreciation posters, cards and banners in community businesses.
- Arrange for a student choir to sing to the board at its monthly meeting.
- Donate a book or set of books to the school library, dedicated to the board, and include board members' names and dates of service on a recognition label within each book.
- Present a variety of practical appreciation tokens of gratitude. These might include lapel pins, pens, desk accessories, mugs, bumper stickers, etc.
- Invite board members to a school assembly to entertain them with a student-produced skit demonstrating what a school board does. Give the board members a round of applause.
- Have students write them notes of appreciation.
- Have culinary arts, or family and consumer science students bake a cake and serve at a recognition ceremony.
- Have students assemble a survival kit for the school board. The kit could include such things as a battery (to keep you going and going), tissues (for parents with issues), rubber bands (to stretch the budget), two cotton balls (for those never-ending phone calls), pencils and erasers (to make those little mistakes go away), antacids (for the occasional day that you are up the proverbial creek), adhesive bandages (to fix the minor district problems), sticky notes (to help you remember all those details) a fan (to keep you from overheating) and aspirin (for those headaches caused by the stress of the position).
- Ask elementary students to draw pictures of what they think school board members do. Mail these to your school board members, post them in the room where the board meets or invite board members to your school to see the art display. This not only shows appreciation, but also usually gives board members a chuckle.
- Invite board members to a PTA meeting and publicly thank them for their service.
- Invite board members to a school basketball game and arrange a special ceremony to honor them at halftime.
- Ask each board member to answer the question, "Why do you serve on the school board?" Then use the quotes in stories or make a poster out of the quote and display during a recognition ceremony.

- Make board members the guests of honor at a school carnival or festival.
- Arrange for a student group to organize a recognition event for the board.
- Have elementary students research what the board does and then make a presentation to the board.
- Pair up a talented student with each board member and have the students teach their board member something these students excel in: a cheerleaders/dance student could teach a cheer or dance routine, a math whiz could show a board member the practical uses of a Pythagorean theorem, etc. Then have the board member teach the students something about their occupation and have all the students and board members report what they learned at a board meeting.

Tips for community groups, service clubs and businesses

- Feature one or two board members each week of January in the local newspaper. Include a photo of the board member in a school setting, a short biography, and his or her philosophy about school board work and the importance of education. Suggest that the education reporter write a feature story about the person who has served the longest on the school board or a school board member who attended your local schools.
- Ask your local newspaper to write an editorial recognizing the many volunteer hours school board members give to your community. Provide lots of information for this editorial.
- Encourage businesses to sponsor radio and TV public service announcements (PSAs) acknowledging the work of the school board and reviewing its responsibilities.
- Host a fun and recreational event for board members and their families. A local motel/hotel or recreation center might donate the facilities needed for such an event. This thanks board members' families for their support and acknowledges that serving on a school board takes time away from family activities.
- Display an appreciation banner across a major street or highway where it will be seen by lots of residents of the school district.
- Create and place Burma Shave-style board appreciation signs along busy streets or highways entering and exiting the community. Be sure to check with local government agencies about regulations for signs along public roads.
- Send each board member a certificate for a free cup of special coffee from a local, popular coffee shop. Accompany it with a note that says, "You deserve a break!"
- Set up a recognition corner or area in the public library to exhibit memorabilia from past school boards.
- Arrange for a florist to donate a single rose for each board member and put it at his or her place at a board meeting as a thank you for their service.
- Make service clubs in the area aware that January is School Board Recognition Month, and encourage them to show public appreciation for their members who serve on school boards.

Sample districts activities

Each year, OSBA asks school districts to share their successful board recognition events. Here are a number of ideas that worked throughout Ohio in 2015:

Mogadore Local (Summit) school board members recently came face-to-face with their look-a-likes as the district's gifted and talented students honored them during School Board Recognition Month.

Students played the part of board members and the superintendent as they acted out a historical play about the creation of the village of Mogadore. During the board's January meeting, students also presented board members with personal letters detailing their positive impact on the schools, along with framed certificates and plaques from local legislators.

In Bedford City, the Bedford High School Madrigal Singers performed as board members were awarded OSBA certificates during their January meeting. Board member Barbara Patterson also was recognized for her past service as OSBA's Black Caucus president. In addition, newly elected Bedford Mayor Stan Koci, was honored with a resolution. And, the crowd cooed over board member Phil Stevens' recent and first grandchild, Rashad Smalls Jr.

While most districts honored their members with a proclamation, OSBA certificates and small gifts, others like Northmont City came up with highly creative ways to say "great job."

Even though they had the day off of school on Martin Luther King Jr. Day, several Northwood Elementary School students volunteered in the community, then talked about their experiences at the district's January board of education meeting. Afterward, the students presented the board with a paperweight reading, "Leadership is the capacity to translate vision into reality."

A group of Fort Recovery Local (Mercer) high school art students thanked board members for helping make their "dreams come true" by presenting each of them with handmade dream catchers. The heartfelt and handmade gifts were presented to the board at its January meeting.

Canton Local's (Stark) Sounds of the South club from Canton South High School performed a song to the tune of Taylor Swift's "Shake It Off" to thank school board members for their service. Hear the audio from their performance by visiting the School Board Recognition Month Page on OSBA's website at www.ohioschoolboards.org/school-board-recognition-month.

Five high school seniors presented Margaretta Local (Erie) Board of Education members letters thanking them for helping make them better students.

Forest Hills Local (Hamilton) gave its board members OSBA appreciation certificates along with matching shirts with the district logo. The shirts will be worn at community events to help identify board members and spread the district's brand. Board members also were recognized on Facebook, in the district's welcome reception area and in school newsletters.

Southern Ohio ESC went all out to honor its board members. In January, the center displayed OSBA's 2015 School Board Recognition Month poster signed by district employees, gave certificates of appreciation, shared a video tribute and served dinner to board members. Superintendent Tony Long also submitted a letter to the editor of the Wilmington News Journal encouraging the public to thank board members for their service.

Warren County Career Center board members enjoyed cupcakes prepared for by district culinary students. They also were given certificates of appreciation.

Mason City's board was treated to a performance by an ensemble of Mason High School orchestra students. Watch the group perform by going to the School Board Recognition Month page on OSBA's website.

"While our individual members have many different ideas, school board members work together in concert (like these outstanding musicians) when they get down to the business of leading our school district," Superintendent Dr. Gail Kist-Kline said. "Your concern and care for our students, staff and the community has helped make Mason City Schools consistently great."

Pickerington Local (Fairfield) board members were entertained by a video tribute featuring Violet Elementary School first-graders giving their answers to the question, "What do school board members do?" For a smile or two, you can watch the video by visiting the School Board Recognition Month page on OSBA's website.

Westerville Mayor Diane Fosselman presented a proclamation of appreciation to Westerville City board members for their service.

"Our school board members unselfishly contribute their time and talents toward the advancement of public education," said Superintendent Dr. John R. Kellogg.

Green Local (Summit) featured profiles of board members on "The Bulldog Buzz", one of the district's Web talk shows, and gave them certificates of appreciation. They also produced a special video expressing appreciation for the board.

In addition, board President Bob Campbell was invited for an on-air interview with Ray

Horner of WAKR-AM to talk about the high-achieving district.

"While they wear many hats in the workday world, our five school board members put on a collective hat when they get down to the business of leading our district," Superintendent Dr. Jeffrey L. Miller said. "The time spent in board meetings represents just a small fraction of the hours these five devote ... they are deeply involved in community activities, in the schools and at extracurricular events."

In Piqua City, third-grade students in Pamala George's music class twirled ribbons to symphonies by Beethoven, showing school board members what they have been learning in class. Superintendent Richard A. Hanes offered a huge thanks to board members for their dedication and service to the district.

The Jackson County Times-Journal reported that Wellston City Superintendent Karen P. Boch presented certificates of appreciation to board members while telling them, "Your jobs are not easy and I think a lot of times your roles are not easily understood by all. Especially with all of the changes to education, we are just being bombarded and you are doing a great job of trying to keep those things moving."

Fairfield City Superintendent Paul Otten read a tribute about each board member and presented them with OSBA certificates of appreciation during their televised board meeting in January.

Strasburg-Franklin Local (Tuscarawas) Superintendent Cindy Brown presented certificates of recognition.

"Board members make personal sacrifices for the district and are the connection between the school, students and staff," Brown said.

Board President Robyn L. Burkett and board member Veronica Spidell received also flower bouquets. Board members Edward Yackey, Wesley Hostetler and Dan Donato were presented with a bologna and cheese tray provided by Buckeye Career Center students.

Superintendent Brian Gerber honored Western Buckeye ESC board members with certificates for their service.

"Nobody is beating down the doors to run for the school board," Gerber said. "So we appreciate our school boards. It takes teamwork and collaboration from all parties to make an educational agency successful."

Western Brown Local (Brown) Assistant Superintendent Jina Bohl helped create books of thank-you letters, written by young students, for each of the district's board members.

Bucyrus City board members were recognized prior to the start of the varsity boys basketball game and received certificates of commendation during a January board meeting.

"Our district is very fortunate to have a dedicated board of education that works closely with parents, education professionals and community members to create the educational vision we want for our students," Superintendent Kevin D. Kimmel said.

The a cappella group Route 6 from Indian Hill High School performed in honor of the Indian Hill EV board. Many district administrators paid tribute to board members in newspaper stories and letters to the editor.

Solon City Superintendent Joseph Regano told The Plain Dealer, "Our board members are dedicated to continuing the success of our schools and all of our students. Their decision making is always guided by what is in the best interest of children."

Xenia Community City Superintendent Denny Morrison gave a glowing endorsement of the district's five board members to the Xenia Daily Gazette.

"They've got — like no other group I've worked with — a can-do attitude," Morrison said. "They never rubber-stamp anything. This board likes to look in-depth at anything we're discussing."

Coshocton City Superintendent Dave Hire told the Coshocton Tribune, "Board members are tasked with making decisions in their school district related to education, a job amplified by the constant changes to state mandates and continuing financial pressures."

Fairborn City Superintendent Dave Scarberry told the Fairborn Daily Herald, "These public servants ... unselfishly contribute their time and talents toward the advancement of public education. They represent a continuing commitment to local citizen control and decision making in education."

Each board member also received an appreciation certificate and tote bags from the district's Student Ambassador program.

Pickaway County ESC Superintendent Ty Ankrom wrote an article featured in the Circleville Herald thanking the ESC's board.

Huber Heights City Superintendent Susan Gunnell wrote about her appreciation for the board in an article published in the Huber Heights Courier.

"Board members work hard to build support and appreciation for our schools and public education," Gunnell wrote. "They are a crucial link between our schools and our community."

Some administrators chose to brag about their hardworking board members online.

Here's an excerpt from what Arcanum-Butler Local (Darke) published on its website: "Too often we are quick to criticize school board members without really knowing all the details that went into any given decision. Too often the efforts of school board members go unrecognized and unrewarded. We can begin to correct these oversights ... This is a time to show our appreciation and to begin to better understand how school board members work together to provide leadership for our schools."

Say “thanks!” to our school board members

Boards of education are a mature and tested institution in Ohio. School board members make policy; approve contracts with employees; choose curriculum; adopt budgets; and select a superintendent, treasurer and business manager to administer the district. They do all these tasks with the emphasis on what’s best for the children they serve.

Being an effective school board member is no easy task, particularly in today’s climate of change and challenge. School board members need to be knowledgeable about many complex education and social issues, and carry out initiatives and directives from both federal and state governments. To face these demands of governing our public schools, they give countless hours of personal time.

A public board of education is a legislative body of citizens elected locally by their communities. Most Ohio school boards consist of five or seven members who serve four-year terms of office. The number of board members for career center boards of education varies. Members usually are appointed for one-year terms representing their “home” districts. As copartners with the General Assembly, which created boards of education, school board members are designated to carry out the constitutional mandate to administer the school system of each district.

Through dedicated, responsible endeavors, school board members serve the public interest in public education — and serve the needs of our kids. They ensure that decisions about public schools are made as close to the needs of our communities as possible. Their public service is an excellent example for young and old alike of the tradition of volunteerism that is a hallmark of American society.

This January, local communities are invited to honor the contributions and dedication of their local school board members — those locally elected citizens who make decisions that affect, influence and direct the education of our youth.

Our school board is just one of the more than 700 boards across Ohio. Let’s say “thank you” to those who participate in what is perhaps the purest form of grassroots democratic principles upon which our republic was founded.

Our school board members do make a difference in our community, for every child, every day.

January is School Board Recognition Month

COLUMBUS — The Ohio School Boards Association is celebrating School Board Recognition Month in January 2016 to build awareness and understanding of the vital function an elected board of education plays in our society.

School Board Recognition Month honors the members of Ohio's more than 700 city, exempted village, local and joint vocational boards of education and educational service centers governing boards for their commitment to providing quality public education to Ohio's school children.

The (school district name) School District is joining with other districts throughout the state to recognize the important contributions school board members make to their communities.

"Ohioans benefit every day from the dedicated energies and countless hours devoted by a group of more than 3,400 men and women across the state," said (superintendent's full name). "These public servants are elected to serve by local citizens and receive little compensation for their tireless efforts. These men and women are the local school board members of Ohio.

"These people unselfishly contribute their time and talents toward the advancement of public education. They represent a continuing commitment to local citizen control and decision-making in education. Even though we are making a special effort during January to show appreciation to our school board members, we recognize their contributions reflect a year-round commitment on their part.

"They are dedicated individuals who are committed to the continuing success of our schools and students."

Thank your school board member today

School board members exemplify local citizen control and decision-making in education. They volunteer hundreds of hours and an immeasurable amount of energy to assure that our schools are providing the best education possible for the children of our community. Here are some reasons we are taking this opportunity to show them our appreciation during School Board Recognition Month in January.

School board members are citizens whose decisions affect our children — what they learn, who will teach them and what kinds of facilities house their classrooms.

These are men and women elected to establish the policies that provide the framework for our public schools. They represent you, and they take this responsibility seriously by attending lengthy — sometimes challenging — meetings, conferences and institutes where they broaden their knowledge about education; during numerous conversations about the schools; and sessions before the Ohio General Assembly.

Our school board is one of more than 700 such boards across the state. These boards enable us to have local control of public schools, meaning that decisions on school programming are made by local, elected representatives who understand the community's unique problems, values, culture and circumstances.

It's a tradition that began nearly 300 years ago. With the advice and counsel of the educational professionals they hire, our school board has an impact on virtually every aspect of our schools. It's a huge responsibility and one that should not be taken lightly.

Too often we neglect to recognize the dedication and hard work of these men and women who represent us. The staff and students of our school district are asking all local citizens to take a moment to tell a school board member "thanks for caring about our children's education."

So, hats off to the dedicated men and women who make it possible for local citizens to have a say about education in our communities. We salute the public servants of (school district) whose dedication and civic responsibility make local control of public schools in our community possible. We applaud them for their vision and voice to help shape a better tomorrow.

This article can be adapted for use in your district newsletter, as an article in your local newspaper, as a letter to the editor or as the foundation for a speech. Localize it by adding information about your school board members, details of how they will be honored during January and ways your board has improved education for the students in your district.

School Boards Make a Difference

School board members are ordinary people who have an extraordinary dedication to our public schools. It is time we thanked them for their untiring efforts.

Too often we forget about the personal sacrifices school board members routinely make.

Too often we forget about the important role school board members play in assuring local control over our public schools, control that is in the hands of people we know ... people who are our neighbors.

Too often we forget that, in the tradition of a representative democracy, school board members are our connection to influencing how our public schools are governed.

Too often we are quick to criticize school board members without really knowing all the details that went into any given decision.

Too often the efforts of school board members go unrecognized and unrewarded.

We can begin to correct these oversights this January, which is School Board Recognition Month. This is a time to show our appreciation and to begin to better understand how school board members work together to provide leadership for our schools.

The school board works closely with parents, education professionals and community members to create the educational vision we want for our students. It then formulates goals, defines results and sets the course for an adequate and equitable educational program for all students.

The school board is accountable to the public. It is responsible for assuring the public that the money allocated to the public schools is providing a good return on the investment. Thus, the board oversees regular assessment of the district's students, staff and programs.

The school board also is a strong advocate for public schools and is responsible for communicating the needs of the school district to the public and the public's expectations to the district.

In January, join with others from throughout our district and state to salute the men and women who provide grassroots governance of public schools. Make a special effort to tell each school board member his or her hard work has been noticed and is very much appreciated.

Sample letter to community groups and service clubs

The following can be personalized for individual community groups and service clubs on your district letterhead. Localize by adding information about your school board members, details of how they will be honored during January and examples of ways your board has improved education for the students in your district.

Dear _____:

I am excited to report that January 2016 is School Board Recognition Month and we are planning a number of activities to honor our (number) school board members. Would (name of group) be interested in joining us?

A couple of events we are planning are: _____

If you are interested, I have some suggestions for things you might do to honor the board of education. You might:

- Sponsor a public service announcement;
- Invite board members to your January meeting to recognize them;
- Feature the board in your January newsletter;
- Sponsor a newspaper advertisement thanking the board for its dedication and service;
- Host a fun event for board members and their families;
- Sponsor an appreciation banner to be hung across a major street or highway;
- Sponsor signs to be distributed to members to display outside their businesses or homes;
- Send each board member a certificate for a free cup of special coffee from a local, popular coffee shop. Accompany it with a note that says, "You deserve a break!"

Please call me at () - . We can discuss this idea further.

Thank you so very much for your support in this much-deserved recognition of our board.

Sincerely,

Sample public service announcements

The best way to succeed with public service announcements (PSAs) is to personally deliver them to someone you know at a radio or television station. Retype on district letterhead with a contact name. If you have public activities planned to recognize your board, you can add that information to the sample PSAs.

New poster

OSBA will mail one 35" by 22" poster to each school district (with the OSBA wall calendar) in December. To obtain an electronic version, email Crystal Davis (cdavis@ohioschoolboards.org) at OSBA. Be creative with the poster to thank your school board. You will be able to add their names in large letters with white or gold markers and display one at a board meeting, or put a number of smaller versions around your school and community. Or, you will be able to use them as greeting cards and have staff and community members sign personal notes on them. You could use one poster per board member.

Another option would be to create your own poster with a group photograph of your school board members. A template of the poster without the photographs can be obtained by contacting Crystal Davis at the email address above.
