Worthington board member is 2012 OSBA president-elect nominee

The OSBA Nominating Committee has selected Charlie Wilson, Worthington City, as the association’s 2012 president-elect nominee. If elected by the Delegate Assembly at its business meeting in November, he will become the association’s president in 2013, following his term as president-elect. Wilson is in his fifth year as a Worthington school board member. He serves on the OSBA Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, the Federal Relations Network and as an alternate member of the Audit Committee. Wilson also is OSBA Central Region immediate past president and a member of the region’s executive committee.

Capital Conference — a bargain that’s impossible to beat

With its special group rate, the OSBA Capital Conference and Trade Show is without question the best professional development bargain around. It works like this. The cost to attend the conference is $250 per person. But if your district registers more than six people, the rate becomes a flat fee of $1,500 for an unlimited number of registrants. Send seven, 17 or 70, the fee is still just $1,500. For details and to register, contact OSBA or visit www.ohioschoolboards.org/conference-information. The conference is Nov. 13-16 at the Greater Columbus Convention Center.

Ohio students show gains on 2010-2011 state report card

Fifty-six more school districts earned Excellent with Distinction or Excellent on the state’s 2010-2011 Local Report Card, bringing the total number of districts ranked in those top two categories to 352, according to the Ohio Department of Education. The statewide average for all students’ test scores, known as the Performance Index, made its biggest gain since 2004-2005, while performance indicator scores fell slightly. For statewide and local report card details, visit www.reportcard.ohio.gov.

OSBA Audit Committee needs alternate from SE Region

OSBA is seeking a Southeast Region school board member to serve as an alternate on its Audit Committee. Candidates must have a basic familiarity with financial statements to serve on the committee, which oversees OSBA’s annual financial statement audit. Alternates attend up to three meetings per year in Columbus and may vote on committee business in the absence of the Southeast Region Audit Committee member. The term expires in May 2013, and the alternate is eligible for reappointment. Send résumés to Janice Smith, chief financial officer, OSBA, 8050 N. High Street, Suite 100, Columbus, OH 43235, or jsmith@ohioschoolboards.org. The deadline is Sept. 16.

This month in OSBA history

The cover of the September 1970 Journal announced that consumer advocate Ralph Nader would headline the 15th Annual Joint Conference and Trade Show, now known as the OSBA Capital Conference and Trade Show. Not yet a perennial presidential candidate, Nader was riding a wave of prominence that began with his 1965 book — Unsafe at Any Speed — which criticized U.S. car manufacturers for not placing more emphasis on vehicle safety.

California superintendent declining $800,000 in pay

Fresno County School Superintendent Larry Powell is forgoing what would have been his compensation for the final three and a half years of his term: $800,000.

Instead, the California education leader will continue to run 325 schools and 35 school districts with 195,000 students for $10,000 a year less than a starting California teacher earns. His annual salary will be $31,000 a year — with no benefits.

“How much do we need to keep accumulating?” said Powell, 63.

The man who started his career as a civics teacher and made anti-bullying his mission said he hopes his generosity will help restore faith in the government he once taught students to respect.

OSBA Black Caucus dinner
Sunday, Nov. 13 6:30 p.m.–8:30 p.m.
Greater Columbus Convention Center Room C 111–115

Join us for an evening of learning and fellowship at the annual Capital Conference OSBA Black Caucus dinner. The keynote speaker is Ohio Supreme Court Justice Yvette McGee Brown.

A series of firsts defines Brown’s judicial career. She was the first African-American elected to the Franklin County Domestic Relations/Juvenile Court. In January 2011, she became the first African-American woman to serve as a justice on the Supreme Court of Ohio and the eighth female justice in the court’s history.

Brown was first elected to the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas, Domestic Relations and Juvenile Division in 1992. As lead juvenile court judge, she led the creation of the Family Drug Court and the SMART Program, a truancy and educational neglect intervention program. In 2002, she retired from the bench to create the Center for Child and Family Advocacy at Nationwide Children’s Hospital, a multidisciplinary child abuse and family violence program that centralizes prevention, assessment, treatment, research and advocacy services for children and families. She served as the center’s founding president until early 2010, when she became a candidate for Ohio lieutenant governor.

A common theme in Brown’s professional and community work is her advocacy for children and families. Her service to Ohio’s children and families has continued during her term as an Ohio Supreme Court justice. An active community and corporate leader, Brown was inducted into the Ohio Women’s Hall of Fame in 2008, and has received numerous awards, including the Champion of Children Award, YWCA Woman of Achievement Award and several honors from Ohio University and The Ohio State University.

The cost to attend the dinner is $65. Preregistration is required; limited tickets will be sold at the door for $70. See your district treasurer to register. All conference attendees are invited. Please indicate any special accommodations needed.

From the ball fields to conversations with neighbors at the coffee shop, people share their opinions with you about your schools, so naturally you think you know what’s on your community’s mind. But the truth is, you may not. When it comes to knowing what your public thinks and wants, you need to hit the mark every time. The most effective way to capture the pulse of your community is through a professional survey that provides data on the opinions of the citizens in your school district.

Join us for an informative webinar where we will share the value of polling, how and when to do it and what to do with the results. Hear real-life examples of when polling data has helped “move the needle” of support and how you can participate in a survey process of your own.

Madeira literacy program targets first-time parents

A Cincinnati-area education foundation has launched a campaign to stress the vital link between early reading and later success in school.

The Madeira City School District’s Madeira Schools Foundation is sponsoring the Early Literacy Team, a group of teachers and foundation members that are working to encourage first-time parents to read to their children from day one. The foundation has been reaching out to first-time parents through the news media and asking community members to contact the literacy team about new parents they might know.

Madeira Elementary School reading specialist Beth Pohlman told a local newspaper that the group wants to provide support to first-time parents and educate them on how much reading early to their children will help them when they start school.

“There’s so much development that happens before (the students) come to school,” Pohlman said.

Early Literacy Team members have been distributing information packets to first-time parents. The packets contain three pamphlets about reading to children at an early age, bookmarks and a nursery rhyme book.

“The (parent’s) lap is where the reading should start,” foundation member and retired teacher Jacque Gentile told the newspaper.
