Olentangy Local Schools teacher is 2018 Ohio Teacher of the Year

An elementary art teacher at Olentangy Local’s (Delaware) Liberty Tree Elementary School is Ohio’s 2018 Teacher of the Year. Jonathan Juravich has been with the district since 2005. Superintendent of Public Instruction Paolo DeMaria made the announcement Sept. 8 during a surprise ceremony at the school. Juravich is known for his novel strategies to get students excited about learning, including bringing a box turtle into his classroom to help teach art along with nature conservation. Juravich also is an adjunct instructor at Otterbein University and works with the Columbus Zoo and Aquarium to develop family-friendly art experiences. He will represent Ohio in the national 2018 Teacher of the Year program sponsored by the Council of Chief State School Officers. Read more about Juravich at http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/33098.

Capital Conference’s Region Resource Center provides key connections

If you want to learn more about OSBA’s regional services and activities, be sure to check out the Region Resource Center at the OSBA Capital Conference. Regional managers and officers from OSBA’s five regions will be at the Region Resource Center throughout the conference to explain association services, talk about events in their regions and answer questions. Located in the Main Concourse of the Greater Columbus Convention Center, the center is a great place to meet other board members from your part of the state. The Capital Conference runs Nov. 12-14. For more information, visit http://conference.ohioschoolboards.org.

October is National Bullying Prevention Month

Schools and communities across the U.S. will observe National Bullying Prevention Month in October. The goal is to urge organizations and people to work together to stop bullying and cyberbullying by increasing awareness of the issue. One activity is Blue Shirt Day World Day of Bullying Prevention on Oct. 2. Numerous websites offer resources to help prevent bullying, including: www.stopbullying.gov; www.pacer.org/bullying/nbpm; http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/23931; and http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/34207.

NSBA issues statement in response to Trump’s call to end DACA

The National School Boards Association (NSBA) has expressed concern in the wake of President Donald Trump’s call to end the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program that protects young undocumented immigrants from deportation. Trump has given Congress six months to address the immigration status of about 800,000 undocumented young adults and children whose parents brought them to the U.S. “Public schools continue to make progress in helping students prepare for college, careers and life,” NSBA Executive Director and CEO Thomas J. Gentzel said. “However, progress is threatened if students are fearful of coming to school. NSBA is deeply concerned by the administration’s decision to end the DACA program. We’re long-standing supporters of educating all students regardless of immigration status.”

Celebrate National School Bus Safety Week in October

National School Bus Safety week — Oct. 16-20 — is a time when parents, students, teachers, motorists, school bus drivers and others join forces to address the importance of school bus safety. The National Association for Pupil Transportation provides resources and activity guides about the importance of bus safety. See www.napt.org/nsbsw for more information.

ODE offers new texting service

The Ohio Department of Education (ODE) is offering another way to stay up-to-date on general education news and resources. Texts are available on both iPhone and Android devices. To sign up, text OHED NEWS to 468311. Texts offering useful information and tips for families with elementary, middle or high school students also are available. To receive ideas for preschool and elementary school students, text OHED EL to 468311. To receive ideas for middle school and high school students, text OHED HS to 468311.

OSBA online

OSBA offers a comprehensive directory you can use year-round to find goods and services for your schools. The OSBA VendorBook is posted at http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/2017VendorBook. This publication can connect you with nearly everything your schools need to increase student achievement and maximize resources. Most of the 2017 Capital Conference Trade Show exhibitors appear in the VendorBook.

Don’t miss the kickoff of the 2017-18 MTA program. This series of workshops will help those involved in student transportation better understand and perform day-to-day operations.

These half-day workshops — offered from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. — include a working lunch and time for questions. Each class is scheduled twice; participants may sign up for either session. Each class is $95 or you can purchase an MTA subscription for the workshop series; contact Diana Paulins, OSBA senior administrative assistant of policy services, for subscription information. All workshops will be at the OSBA office, 8050 N. High St., Columbus, 43235. Visit www.ohioschoolboards.org/transportation-training-programs to learn about the MTA certification program.

Workshop dates and descriptions

Oct. 18 or 25 — Personnel management
Transportation administrators must have some knowledge of labor practices to effectively manage their staffs. Discuss working with contracts, discipline, driver qualifications and evaluations and how to manage issues.

Nov. 29 or Dec. 6 — Transportation rules and regulations
Explore federal, state and local regulations and a checklist that every transportation department can use to measure its performance and compliance. This class is a favorite for new supervisors, veteran supervisors and other school administrators who are responsible for pupil transportation services.

Feb. 7 or 14 — The transportation handbook
Guidelines and procedures are essential and can be the manager’s best friend. Discuss the handbook development process as well as what to include in the handbook and how to keep it current.

April 4 or 11 — Public relations and working with the media
Experience a “live interview” process to learn how to develop talking points and stay on target in an interview. Also learn how to build proactive media relationships.

May 2 or 9 — Designing your operational plan and building keys for success
Review how to put the operational plan together, including timelines and how to schedule or delegate projects. Discover how building support networks and stakeholder groups are key to your success.

Register online at www.ohioschoolboards.org/workshops. You also can purchase a subscription plan for all the workshops in this series. For questions about the program or to register, contact Diana Paulins at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or mta@ohioschoolboards.org.
Expecting the Unexpected
A workshop for central office and school building administrative assistants

Friday, Oct. 13, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. • OSBA office, Columbus • Cost $95

Agenda
9:30 a.m. Registration and coffee
10 a.m. Welcome and introductions
10:15 a.m. Amid the chaos — board and superintendent relations
Even when great teamwork exists, responsibilities and relationships among boards and superintendents can be confusing. OSBA Director of Board and Management Services Cheryl W. Ryan will provide a clear explanation of these roles so navigating them on a day-to-day basis is easier.

10:45 a.m. A reporter is in the lobby — working with the news media
What is the best way to address media inquiries and work with reporters, especially during a crisis? OSBA Communication Manager Scott Gerfen will provide valuable insight into the consideration needed before addressing the media.

11:15 a.m. How can I organize all these documents?
Amanda Finney and Cheryl Domby from BoardDocs will explain how organizing valuable documents safeguards essential school records and helps districts operate more effectively.

11:45 a.m. Lunch and small group discussion
12:30 p.m. How do I deal with difficult students (and parents)?
Learn how listening skills and compassion can be used to defuse intense situations with students and parents. OSBA Senior Student Achievement Consultant Kim Miller-Smith shares how front line staff can use these strategies when the situation arises.

1 p.m. Was I supposed to keep those records?
As a custodian of your district’s records, it’s important to know how long files are to be kept and appropriately stored. OSBA Deputy Director of Legal Services Jennifer A. Hardin will outline important policies on records retention, public records requests and personnel files.

1:45 p.m. Final discussion and wrap-up
2 p.m. Adjourn

How to Get it All Done in the Age of Electronic Communication

Thursday, Oct. 5, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. • Cost $155

OSBA office, 8050 N. High St., Columbus, (614) 540-4000

Facebook, Twitter and a dynamic website are a must, but how do you keep expanding to reach new audiences and audiences that move from platform to platform? How does a one-person department manage it all 24/7?

In this session, we will take a look at traditional methods of social media, new avenues that are cropping up and up-and-coming methods of electronic communication in an age of ever-changing platforms.

- How can you “beef up” traditional social media channels like Facebook and Twitter to increase the number of people who view, like and share your information?
- How to start — and maintain — a successful blog.
- Pinterest, Instagram, Snapchat ... what’s next?
- How do you manage photo permissions in an age of instant news? Can you stop to clear media waivers?
- Is it smart to train staff on these tools and let them fly?
- Do you let schools and staff have their own channels or does this fragment an audience?

Join us for this interactive, fast-paced session. You are sure to walk away with solid ideas for increasing your district or organization’s social media reach.

The cost is $155, which includes registration, materials, lunch and light refreshments. Register online at www.ohioschoolboards.org/workshops or contact Laurie Miller, OSBA senior events manager, at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or Lmiller@ohioschoolboards.org.
As the Ohio General Assembly returns from its summer break, committees are resuming hearings on a number of different topics. One bill in particular that every board member needs to be aware of is House Bill (HB) 342, introduced by Rep. Derek Merrin (R-Monclova Township).

HB 342 seeks to eliminate the use of August special elections for local tax proposals. The August election is an option school districts can’t afford to lose, especially when state and federal funding for education is significantly limited and we are seeing a dramatic shift in local resources.

The special election allows school districts to ask voters to expand and or maintain current programs. By eliminating this option, the state would be undermining the ability of school districts and other political subdivisions to raise critical funding from their local communities. The funding received by levies typically supports fundamental services for the district, strengthens curriculum offerings, provides extracurricular activities or is used to update or build new facilities.

HB 342 also would make changes to all property tax levy

Could your board benefit from the insight and direction of a governance expert?

OSBA’s Division of Board and Management Services provides one-on-one consulting workshops that can help your team work through common governance issues such as:
• setting vision-focused goals and priorities;
• strengthening board and superintendent relations during periods of leadership transition;
• developing effective deliberation, meetings and communication;
• superintendent evaluation and board self-evaluation.

Call us at (614) 540-4000 or (800) 589-OSBA. We’ll connect you with a consultant who will work with your board to design strategies and services that best meet your needs.
Students at South-Western City’s Jackson Middle School welcomed the creative challenge ahead of them: adding endings to the unfinished works of professional novelists.

Dr. Kevin Cordi, an education professor at Ohio Northern University near Lima, recently unveiled the Young Adult Authors Unfinished StoryBox at the school. The storybox is a cardboard box filled with the beginnings of stories from about 40 young adult authors, some of whom have written New York Times best-sellers.

“This is a way to experience reading and writing as though you are the author,” Cordi told a local newspaper.

Language arts teacher Randi Flynn applied to do the storybox with her four classes of eighth-graders. She knows Cordi through the Columbus Area Writing Project, a professional development program for teachers.

Student Andrew Schmude couldn’t help but smile after reading the started story he picked out.

His classmate, Terilyn Nicole Walker, said she reads a lot but writing isn’t her favorite.

“It definitely is a lot of pressure when you know you’re writing with a published author,” Terilyn said.

and bond issue ballot notices and forms for the general and primary elections.

One change would require millage to be expressed in dollars and cents per $100,000 of tax valuation. It currently is expressed per $100 of tax valuation. With this change, the dollar figure on the ballot will be significantly increased.

For example, 1 mill equal to 10 cents per $100 of tax valuation would become $100 per $100,000 of tax valuation. This is a substantial change and will make it more difficult to pass property tax levies supporting local school districts.

OSBA is opposed to the changes proposed in HB 342 and encourages you to communicate these concerns to your local representatives.

Merrin also recently introduced HB 343, which would prohibit local governments, including school districts, from challenging valuations on properties the political subdivision does not own unless the following procedure is followed.

A school district would need to adopt a resolution to authorize filing a complaint or counterclaim that includes:
• identification of the parcel that is subject of the complaint;
• the name of the owner or owners of the parcel;
• the basis of the complaint.

In addition, the district would need to notify the owner or owners at least seven business days prior to adopting a resolution.

Property valuation challenges by local governments and school districts are a critical part of Ohio’s local tax structure and have been for decades. The ability to challenge property valuation provides for an appropriate system of checks and balances that not only protects local governments and schools but also other taxpayers in the taxing district.
