

BRIEF CASE

THE OHIO SCHOOL BOARDS ASSOCIATION

Serving the public school leadership team

It's time to register for OSBA virtual region spring conferences

The OSBA spring region conferences again will be conducted virtually via Zoom. The free events run from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Register today at www.ohioschoolboards.org/events for an outstanding professional development opportunity and a chance to celebrate achievements from throughout your region. Regional managers have developed programs to replicate the in-person events as much as possible. The schedule is: Northeast Region, March 3; Southwest Region, March 9; Central Region, March 10; Northwest Region, March 11; Southeast Region, March 16. For more information, contact OSBA or your regional manager. Managers' contact details are posted at www.ohioschoolboards.org/osba-regions. Once on that page, find your region in the left-hand column and click on the link.

ODE seeks sponsors for Summer Food Service Program

The Ohio Department of Education (ODE) is seeking schools and other nonprofit agencies to be sponsors or meal sites for the Summer Food Service Program, which provides children meals during the summer when they don't receive meals at school. Sponsors are reimbursed for the costs of providing food to children in eligible areas. The program is funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and administered by ODE. Any organization interested in becoming a sponsor or site should complete the potential sponsor survey at <http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/39822>.

Additional child food assistance extended through end of school year

The Ohio Department of Job and Family Services has received approval to provide additional food benefits for Ohio children through the end of the school year. The Pandemic Electronic Benefit Transfer (P-EBT) payments help children who normally get free or reduced-price meals through the National School Lunch Program but are receiving remote or hybrid instruction during the school year due to the COVID-19 pandemic emergency. When possible, P-EBT benefits are added to the existing Ohio Direction cards of families that receive Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program benefits. Other eligible families will receive a P-EBT card with the benefit already added. No application is needed. For more information, visit <http://jfs.ohio.gov/ofam/p-ebt.stm>.

OSBA makes it easier for districts to update rosters

To enable board members and administrators to take advantage of all of OSBA's information and resources, it is very important for districts to keep their OSBA rosters up to date. Districts should update their rosters whenever there is a change in key personnel. The association has developed a new system to make the process quick and easy. Visit <http://links.ohioschoolboards.org/rosterhelp> for step-by-step

NSBA announces keynotes for online annual conference

The National School Boards Association (NSBA) has converted its annual in-person conference into the NSBA 2021 Online Experience. The keynote speakers will be Shawn Achor and Leslie Odom Jr. Achor, a former Harvard University professor, is The New York Times bestselling author of "The Happiness Advantage," "Big Potential" and the children's book, "How to Make a Shark Smile." Odom is an award-winning actor and singer best known for his breakout role as Aaron Burr in the Broadway play "Hamilton," for which he won a Tony Award for

Signs of gratitude greet Middletown teachers, staff

The bright purple sign in Andrea Alexander's front yard reads, "A Difference Maker Lives Here."

"It was a big surprise, actually," Alexander, a first-grade teacher at Middletown City's Creekview Elementary School, told a local TV station. "I came home, I had no idea."

The southwest Ohio district put up signs for teachers, custodians and bus drivers to show its appreciation. Alexander, who's been with Middletown City for 14 years, said it's nice to recognize the work she and other staff members do. "This year has been really challenging for, I think, everyone: families, teachers, kids," she said. "Just to know that our district is thinking about us and knowing that there is a struggle, it's just nice to be appreciated."

OSBA Master of Transportation Administration (MTA) Program

Don't miss the 2020-21 MTA program. This series of workshops will help those involved in student transportation better understand and perform day-to-day operations.

Each class is $100, or you can purchase an MTA subscription for the workshop series; contact Pete Japikse, senior transportation consultant, or Doug Palmer, transportation consultant, for subscription information.

Visit www.ohioschoolboards.org/transportation-training-programs to learn about the MTA certification program.

Workshop dates and descriptions

March 3 — Public relations and working with the media (virtual)

We will have two related focus points for this session. First, we will experience a live interview process to refine our skills in developing talking points and staying on target in an interview about a real event. Second, after focusing on reactive news responses, we will shift focus to proactive news relationships to inform your community about the resources your transportation department offers.

April 7 — Designing your operational plan and building keys for success (virtual)

We will start this final class of the year by looking at how to put the operational plan together. What is your work calendar? When do you need to do what, and how do you schedule or delegate that project? Much of what we do has a critical work path, and unless you plan your work in advance, it is easy to get “behind the curve” and feel like you are trying to catch up. We also will focus on building support networks, identifying friends and foes and recognizing where you need allies to succeed. Building your stakeholders’ group and support network is key to your success and helps broaden your potential for positive impact.

Register by contacting Japikse or Palmer at (614) 540-4000, (800) 589-OSBA or mta@ohioschoolboards.org. You also can purchase a subscription plan for all the workshops in this series; contact Japikse or Palmer for more information.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

by Will Schwartz, deputy director of legislative services

State revises spending cuts as new budget is unveiled

Only a few weeks after the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, the powerful impact it would have on Ohio's economy became both evident and pervasive. State budget officials would begin to craft a narrative detailing a grim outlook for the state's finances and also prepare Ohioans for a bumpy ride of fiscal and personal restraints.

Gov. Mike DeWine continued this pattern of tough choices on Jan. 22 by signing Executive Order 2021-01D, which formalized a reduced state spending cut of $390 million for fiscal year (FY) 2021. This decision would allow Ohio to balance the remainder of the FY 2020-2021 biennium without a negative balance.

That order marks DeWine's second significant spending control, the first of which occurred on May 5, 2020, and reduced state spending by $782 million for the remaining weeks of FY 2020. K-12 education bore the brunt of that reduction, as $300 million was cut from school districts' subsidy payments for the state foundation formula, representing a 3.7% cut on an annual basis.

As FY 2020 concluded and the next sixth months ensued, payments to school districts were made at reduced FY 2020 levels, effectively continuing the FY 2020 cuts well into FY 2021. On Jan. 22, DeWine made official the FY 2021 cuts, effectively restoring $160 million to school districts for the remainder of the fiscal year. The result is a net $140 million reduction for districts who can expect increased funding levels to occur beginning with their first February payment. On a per-pupil basis, the FY 2021 cuts amount to an $82.42 average annual reduction for traditional school districts, with $21.70 and $137.42 serving as the lowest and highest cuts, respectively.

Like the FY 2020 cuts, reductions continued to be applied in an equalized manner, meaning school districts with less capacity to raise revenue locally received a smaller per-pupil reduction than school districts with a higher capacity to raise local revenue. In other words, poorer school districts received a smaller per-pupil cut than did their wealthier counterparts. This methodology is similar to the equitable manner in which state aid is distributed to each school district. A modification to the FY 2021 cuts was factoring in $23.3 million previously authorized through House Bill 164 of the 133rd General Assembly.

In making the revised reductions, DeWine stressed the importance of returning students to in-classroom instruction, saying "As many schools, colleges and universities return to in-person learning, it's important that the funding be reinstated."

Despite the two rounds of state spending controls, DeWine has yet to tap the state's $2.7 billion Budget Stabilization Fund, also known as the rainy day fund. The governor has been consistent in his defense for avoiding using the state's reserves, saying the pandemic's impact on Ohio's economy will last for years to come.

Meanwhile, the softened cut signals an acknowledgement by DeWine and his administration that the previously estimated $2.3 billion budget hole has shrunk. According to the January 2021 Monthly Financial Report from the Office of Budget and Management, Ohio's total tax receipts for the six-month period from July through December of 2020 show $457.7 million, or 3.7%, above estimates. In a show of consistency, revenue exceeded estimates in five of the first six months of FY 2021.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WORK!

compiled by Scott Gerfen, assistant editor

Plain Local students' creation shields shoppers from germs

Research shows that the handles on a shopping cart can be 270 times dirtier than a public toilet handle.

So, when Janson Maynard, a senior at Plain Local's (Stark) GlenOak High School, heard his grandmother complaining about how a store wasn't properly wiping down shopping carts to reduce the spread of COVID-19, he mentioned the problem to members of his business class. They had been trying to come up with a business idea to develop and operate through Junior Achievement of North Central Ohio.

The team created its business, Disease Defense, and developed the Shopping Cart Shield, a 12-inch-by-6-inch washable fabric cover that wraps around the handle of a shopping cart.

"We knew we wanted to do something that had an actual impact and not something that was just a novelty," Disease

Defense Chief Executive Officer Aeden Begue told a local newspaper.

The Shopping Shield, which comes with a washing bag, can be purchased for $10 each or three shields for $25 by sending an email to diseasedefense@gmail.com.

So far, sales have been strong, Begue said. Ten percent of profits will be donated to Partners in Health, which supports workers on the front lines of the pandemic.

In the coming days, DeWine is expected to submit to the legislature his executive budget proposal for FY 2022 and 2023. A question on the minds of many education observers is what baseline will DeWine propose for K-12 funding in the upcoming biennium? Will it reflect the pre-FY 2020 reduction funding levels, the reduced FY 2020 funding levels, the new, revised FY 2021 levels or something else entirely? Ohioans will learn the answer in early February, and the budget debate will then be underway.
